OFFICIAL ANNOUNCEMENT.

WASHINGTON, Thursday, Dec. 1.

The following official dispatch concerning the report of the victory in Tennessee, has been received at headquarters:

FRANKLIN, Tenn., Wednesday, Nov. 30.
FRANKLIN, Tenn., Wednesday, Nov. 30.

Major-Gen. Thomas:

The enemy made a heavy and persistent attack with two corps, commencing at 4 P. M., and lasting till after dark. He was repulsed at all points, with heavy loss—probably of five or six thousand men. Our loss is probably not more than one-fourth of that number. We have captured about one thousand prisoners, including one Brigadier-General.

(Signed,) JOHN SCHOFIELD,
Major-General.

OUR SPECIAL ACCOUNT.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

FOUR MILES SOUTH OF NASHVILLE, Thursday, Dec. 1.

Gen. SCHOFIELD yesterday fought one of the prettiest fights of the war, resulting most disastrously to the rebels, with little loss to ourselves. After three days' skirmishing, the rebels crowded our first line of works yesterday afternoon, and at 4 P. M. made a most desperate attack on our right and centre, forcing our lines to our breastworks, which were thrown up from river to river in an open field on the Cumberland Pike, which ran through the centre of the field.

At least half the rebel force engaged endeavored to pierce our centre, and come down viciously on WAGNER'S Division, which, after desperate fighting, fell back, and MANY'S rebel division, of FRANK CHEATHAM'S corps, got inside our works and captured two guns. Our centre was not broken, however, and, better still, Gen. WAGNER successfully rallied his troops, who charged on the enemy, recaptured the two guns, and drove the division over the breastworks, capturing one entire brigade and its commander.

At 4:30 o'clock the battle was waged with unabating vigor, the enemy having made during a half hour several attempts to break our centre.

The Federal position was a magnificent one, and the result of these four days' work were magnificently grand.

All this while the rebels had appeared in front of our right. The plan was to pierce our centre and crush our right wing before dark. A portion of our infantry were engaged three-quarters of an hour firing on the rebel columns who stood their ground like madmen. During every charge made on our right and centre, volleys of grape and canister were hurled into their lines, and only darkness prevented their sacrifice being more awful. It is said that no canister shot was used by the rebels during the day, but fired shot and shell.

After the first break of WAGNER'S division and its recovery, our line never budged a step. All was quiet after 10 P. M. It was not only one of the prettiest but cleanest battles of the war. The excessive slaughter of the enemy was owing to our wholesale use of canister and grape, and our selection of the ground. The battle was fought in an open field, with no trees or undergrowth, or other interruption. The enemy's loss in killed and wounded approximates 7,000, and we have over 1,200 prisoners, and one general officer and several field officers. The Colonel of the Fifteenth Mississippi, a Northern man, of Illinois, was wounded and taken prisoner. Four-fifths of his regiment were killed, wounded and captured. Our loss does not reach a thousand, hors du combat. Gen. BRADLEY, of Illinois, while gallantly leading his troops, was severely wounded in the shoulder. Our loss in field officers is very small. Our troops behaved handsomely. SCHOFIELD commanded on the field, STANLEY on the right, and Cox on the left. Gen. STANLEY was wounded slightly in the neck, but remained on the field and is all right to-day.

I have told you all along the programme of Gen. THOMAS would electrify you, and this is but the epilogue of the battle to come off.

After our dead, wounded and prisoners were cared for, our army fell back to this point, and are in line of battle while I write. Up to this time, 3 P. M., the enemy has not made his appearance. The Third Corps of Veterans are in readiness, and a battle is expected before daylight to-morrow. All Government work is suspended, and all are under arms, from Gen. DONALDSON down to the unscientific laborers.

The falling back of our troops was accomplished at 8 o'clock this morning, and bridges burned across Harpeth River to retard the transportation of rebel supplies. The cavalry was handled prettily by Gen. WILSON, between Spring Hill and Triune.

A. J. SMITH'S corps is in line of battle, and the situation is particularly grand. Forts Negley, Morton, Cairo and Houston are alive, and the infantry movements perfectly satisfactory. Something must immediately transpire, as Gen. THOMAS is ready to strike no matter how the rebels move.

BENJ. C. TRUMAN.

ANOTHER ACCOUNT.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Thursday, Dec. 1—9:30 P. M.

About noon on Wednesday our main army reached Franklin, when Gen. SCHOFIELD prepared to give the enemy battle. There was very little skirmishing, as HOOD'S object was to attack us before we had time to throw up defensive works.

About 4 o'clock the enemy commenced advancing on our lines, when the ball was opened by our batteries shelling their advance, and soon after a regular cannonading opened along the whole line. The rebels, who had been protected by woods, now emerged from cover, and opened with a fierce volley of musketry along the lines and then charged. For a moment part of our line wavered, and fell back before the desperate charge of the enemy. Gens. RUGER and Cox, however, rallied their men and charged the enemy, who had crossed over our abandoned line of works.

The rebels were now fighting with the desperation of demons, charging our lines furiously, some leaping our works and fighting hard.

Now was the critical moment, but our Generals, rallying their troops, swung on the rebel flank, doubling them in the centre, where our artillery and musketry mowed them down by hundreds.

The tide was now turned. Our men, inspired with success, gave a wild huzza and swept back on the rebel line like an avalanche, hurling the enemy back in the wildest disorder and confusion.

Night was now setting in, yet we followed up our advantage. What once threatened to be a disastrous defeat was thus turned into a glorious victory. The courage of our officers and the desperate bravery of our men was unexampled.

Our loss is about seven hundred killed and wounded. We captured over one thousand prisoners and eight battle-flags. Two rebel Brigadier-Generals are in our hands. A rebel Division-General was left on the field mortally wounded. The rebel loss in killed and wounded is estimated at three thousand.

The rebel Gens. CHEATHAM and LEE'S corps were engaged. The brunt of the battle on our side fell on the Second Division of the Fourth Corps.

Capt. COUGHLIN, of Gen. Cox's staff, was killed, and several regimental commanders and officers were killed and wounded, whose names have not been ascertained. Gen. STANLEY was slightly wounded in the neck, but did not leave the field.

Gen. Cox states that one could walk fifty yards on dead rebels in his front.

The excitement is allayed here by the knowledge of the above facts.

Our troops have taken position in a line of works between Nashville and Franklin.

Further Details.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Thursday, Dec. 1.

The Federal forces under Gen. THOMAS retired from Franklin last night, and have taken position and formed in line of battle south of Nashville about three miles. Skirmishing has been going on all day about five miles south of here. Heavy cannonading can be distinctly heard in the city. No want of confidence is felt by the citizens in ultimate success by the Federals. The employes of the Quarter-Master's Department are under arms and in the trenches.

One hundred and seven Confederate officers, including one Brigadier-General and one thousand prisoners, arrived in the city this morning. They were captured in the fight last night near Franklin. A great battle may momentarily be expected.

A Most Desperate Attack by the Rebels—The Rebels Charge Our Masked Batteries—Terrible Loss of the Enemy—Forrest Reported Killed—Reinforcements for Schofield.

NASHVILLE, Thursday, Dec. 1.

Parties who have arrived from the front, and who witnessed the battle of yesterday, describe the attack of the rebel forces as desperate. Four charges were made upon the Federal masked batteries in columns four lines deep. Each time the rebels were repulsed with fearful loss.

The fort is on the north bank of the river, opposite the town, extending up the river, and encircling the town was the line of masked batteries. Eye-witnesses say that this engagement, in desperation and furious fighting, was hardly equaled by the battle of Stone River.

FORREST in person was on the field rallying his men. A rumor is in circulation that he was killed, but it lacks confirmation.

About 7 o'clock last night heavy reinforcements reached SCHOFIELD, which caused a complete rout of the rebel forces.

The city to-day is full of fleeing residents of Williamson and other counties south. They state HOOD is gathering up all the horses, hogs and mules that he can find, and sending them south.

There is great panic among the negroes in the counties south of Nashville. Numbers are fleeing to the city for protection.

THE VERY LATEST.

NASHVILLE, Thursday, Dec. 1.

HOOD'S Infantry force crossed the Harpeth River this morning, and he has not advanced that portion of his force since. His cavalry crossed Harpeth River on the fords above Franklin this morning at daybreak, closely following Gen. WILSON, who retired in this direction. Skirmishing with the advance has occurred all day. Gen. WILSON occupies a strong position a few miles south of Nashville, and is able to resist any force the rebels may bring against him.

The rebel General captured yesterday was Col. GORDON, of the Eleventh Tennessee, brevet Brigadier-General.

An officer who witnessed the fight yesterday, describes the battle as one of the most sanguinary of the war. The determined bravery of the rebels exceeded anything before seen. Although slaughtered by hundreds, they still advanced against our batteries. Within five hours, eleven distinct attacks were made against our works, each a failure.

The battle being ended our forces quietly withdrew from the town.

Among the casualties is Maj.-Gen. Stanley, wounded by a shot in the neck. The rebel Gen. Cheatham is reported wounded. Capt. Bissell, of the Twelfth Indiana, and Capt. Staley, One Hundred and Twenty-fourth Indiana, were killed; Capt. Hinton, One Hundred and Twenty-fourth Indiana, mortally wounded; Col. Lowrey, One Hundred and Seventh Illinois, killed; Capt. Coughlin, of Gen. Cox' Staff, was killed; Capt. Dowling, One Hundred and Eleventh Ohio, was wounded; Col. Walters, Third Brigade, First Division, was wounded in the shoulder; Col. Conrad, who commanded a brigade in the Second Division, was wounded.

The following are rebel casualties: Brig.-Gen. Adams, killed; Brig.-Gen. Scott, wounded. The enemy's total killed, wounded and prisoners are estimated at 4,000, 3,000 being either killed or wounded. The Federal loss in killed and wounded was 700. The loss in prisoners is trifling.

Gen. BRADLEY is wounded and in the city.

Col. STOCKTON and Major JAMES, of the Seventy-second Illinois, are also wounded.

It is rumored this evening that HOOD is moving eastward, toward Murfreesboro'.

PRELIMINARY DETAILS.

Dispatches to the Associated Press.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Wednesday, Nov. 30.

Army movements for the last few days have been simply for position.

The National forces have not retreated except to improve the location, and occupy Franklin to-day; but they will probably select for the battle-field a place much nearer Nashville.

Some skirmishing has occurred, with little or no advantage to either side.

The probabilities are that a great battle will be fought within the next forty-eight hours.

Our forces are in eager and anxious expectation for the fray, while our Generals are hopeful and confident of victory.

Large accessions of Federal troops have reached here, who have been sent to advantageous positions.

Small detachments of rebel cavalry are operating not far from Nashville, doing, however, no real damage to the rail communications, which still remain intact, trains running regularly.

There is much excitement among the citizens of Nashville on account of the near approach of HOOD'S army.

Maj.-Gen. A. J. SMITH'S corps reached here to-night.

Hood's Advance at Spring Hill, Tenn., Thirty-two Miles South of Nashville.

NASHVILLE, Wednesday, Nov. 30—Midnight
RECEIVED Dec. 1—9 A. M.

Heavy skirmishing for the past few days, and still going on between our troops and FORREST.

There was a sharp fight yesterday at Spring Hill, twelve miles south of Franklin. Our cavalry was driven back on our infantry lines which checked the enemy. A squad of rebel prisoners were in charge of these troops, when the rebel cavalry made a dash on them, releasing their men and capturing ours.

A train was attacked near Harpeth River. The engineer detached the locomotive, and both are supposed to be captured. The rest of the train was saved.

A squad of rebel cavalry dashed across the Chattanooga line yesterday, near Cheshire, tearing up the track.

The train was detained all night, but came in next morning.

Our troops have fallen back around Franklin.

The main part of HOOD'S army is across Duck River.

Every indication of a heavy battle in a few days, but we are confident of the result.

Franklin.

Franklin, the scene of the great victory over HOOD on Thursday, is the capital of Williamson County, Tenn., and is situated on the south bank of Big Harpeth River, about 18 miles from Nashville, on the line of the Nashville and Decatur Railroad. Before the war it was a beautiful village, with a population of about 2,000 people. Franklin has changed hands several times during the war. After VAN DORN'S success in capturing a Union brigade at Spring Hill, near Franklin, in March, 1863, that rebel Commander moved upon the latter place, which he attacked on the 10th of April. Major-Gen. GORDON GRANGER was in command of the village. His forces comprised two infantry divisions of 1,600 men, 2,000 cavalry under SMITH and STANLEY, and eighteen guns. The only artificial defence was an uncompleted fort, which mounted two siege guns and two three-inch rifled guns. VAN DORN'S force was estimated at nine thousand infantry and two regiments of cavalry. The rebels were handsomely repulsed, losing three hundred, while GRANGER'S total loss was only thirty-seven.

The town proper is built upon an open, level spot; but circling round to the west and south of it are the Harpeth Hills. Big Harpeth River has its source in Bedford County, and flows northwest through Williamson, past the town of Franklin, enters Davidson County, and falls into the Cumberland River thirty-five miles below this city, after a general comparative course of sixty miles.

Rebel Speculations.

From the Richmond Whig, Nov. 29.

The care which the Yankee newspapers take to represent the movement of HOOD as ineffectual and despicable; the ridicule which they cast upon his present position; their constant declaration that THOMAS is more than a match for him, and that he has entirely failed, prove beyond a doubt that he has not failed. He has succeeded in placing SHERMAN in a most embarrassing situation, from which he could only escape by a desperate plunge, which he has taken, and the effect of which we shall very shortly witness.

The Whig of the 29th says Gen. RIPLEY has been placed in command of South Carolina.

FROM NEW-ORLEANS.

An Important Success by Gen. Lee—A Raid Through Mississippi—Capture of Three Guns and a number of Prisoners.

The steamer Matanzas, from New-Orleans, Nov. 23 has arrived at this port. She brings the following news:

RAID IN MISSISSIPPI.

The True Delta, of Nov. 21, publishes the following:

SIX MILES EAST OF PORT HUDSON, Nov. 21.

Brig.-Gen. Burton:

I am en route home, and shall arrive to-night; have captured 200 prisoners, including 25 commissioned officers. We had a strong fight at Liberty, Miss., in which we whipped the enemy badly. We captured one piece of artillery, and two at Brookhaven, one of them is a siege gun, formerly captured at Port Hudson. I have all of Gen. HODGES staff, from 600 to 800 head of horses and mules, rode by negroes; and destroyed immense stores on the railroad.

(Signed) A. L. LEE, Brig.-Gen.

The above is a copy of a dispatch received by Brig.-Gen. BURTON.

Brig.-Gen. LEE with his whole command, prisoners and captures, as previously reported, has just arrived in Baton Rouge.

IMPORTANT CAPTURE.

LARGE HAUL OF MONEY, ETC.

From the Era, Nov. 29.

The steamer Grey Eagle arrived here this morning, having on board Capt. NED MONTGOMERY and twenty-six other rebel prisoners, captured at Choctaw Bend on Wednesday last. The party at the time of the capture were on their way to Texas, where Capt. MONTGOMERY is said to have purchased a rancho, on which he intended to reside for the balance of his days.

On MONTGOMERY was found $250,000 in foreign Exchange, and a quantity of money besides, and all the party were mounted on fine blooded horses.

Capt. MONTGOMERY is well-known here, having been in charge of the construction of the Confederate fleet at the time FARRAGUT passed the forts. He skedaddled at that time, and we believe has since been engaged in guerrilla business, which seems to be profitable, judging from what was found upon him. It is said that he has quit the rebel service, and had determined to become a peaceable citizen, but he may now have cause to change his purpose. "The best laid schemes of mice and men," etc.

THE REBELS DEFEATED AT THIBODAUX.

From the True Delta, Nov. 20,

The talk was current on the streets last evening that an expedition had recently started from Thibodaux, and was successful in defeating a large body of rebels, burning their boats, barracks and baggage. On inquiry, last night, of the proper authority, we found the report to be correct, and that the expedition was under command of Major MILLER. No further particulars had been received by us up to the hour of going to press.

ARRIVAL OF THE MANHATTAN.

From the Era, Nov. 23.

The ocean iron-clad steamer Manhattan arrived here on Sunday last from Mobile Bay. She is the first of the monitor class of boats that has made so long a voyage as from New-York to these waters. The Manhattan bore a conspicuous part in the great naval and land fight in Mobile Bay last Summer, and still bears the marks of that fearful contest. The following is the list of her officers:

Commander, J. W. A. Nicholson; Acting-Lieut. and Ex. Off., Robert B. Ely, Acting-Ensigns, George B. Mott, J. B. Trott, Chas. H. Sinclair and J. Lewis Harris; Assistant-Paymaster, H. G. Thayer; Surgeon, H. W. Mitchell; Chief-Engineer, Charles L. Carty; First Assistant-Engineer, W. H. Miller; Second Assistant-Engineers, James B. Farrand and Thos. Finnie; Third Assistant-Engineer, William Stollery; Captain's Clerk, A. W. Maxwell.

TORNADO AT RIO JANEIRO.

Terrible Hail Storm—Great Damage to the City and Shipping—Serious Loss of Life.

By the arrival of the bark Mirago, Capt. MERRILL, we have advices from Rio Janeiro to Oct. 13th. The ship Alexander, Capt. J. BROWN, arrived the night previous from Cardiff, and while off the port Capt. BROWN was washed overboard by a sea and drowned.

A most violent tornado visited that place on the 10th inst., at 6 P. M., accompanied by tremendous large hail stones and torrents of rain. The city for about one quarter of a mile in width suffered severely, many houses being blown down and others completely riddled by the hail. The tornado lasted about 15 minutes.

The shipping has sustained a great deal of damage.

The bark Leighton, Capt. BLATCHFORD, was capsized, and his (the Captain's) son, a lad of 10 years, drowned; his wife was saved almost exhausted. The bark Lapwing was considerably damaged about the stern. The Brazilian brig Manuel was capsized, also several other foreign vessels capsized and a number of lives lost. A boat from the English line-of-battle ship Bombay, while going ashore during the tornado, was upset, and all the crew with several officers, lost.

FROM MEMPHIS.

Rebel Incendiaries Caught Firing Government Buildings.

CAIRO, Thursday, Dec. 1.

Memphis papers of yesterday give detailed accounts of a plot by rebel agents to burn the Memphis and Charleston Railroad Depot and Government stores, worth two millions.

The plot was discovered by the United States Detectives, to whom the matter was intrusted by Gen. WASHBURN, and the incendiaries were caught in the act of firing the buildings.

It is alleged that these emissaries were to receive from the rebel Government ten per cent. of the value of the property thus destroyed.

Dr. MCMILLAN, proprietor of the Charleston House of Memphis, is among those arrested. He is charged with being the agent of the rebel Government and concocting the plot.

The prisoners have been confined in Irving Block. They will be tried by a military commission, and probably hung.

Major-Gen. Banks.

HE IS TO RESUME HIS COMMAND IN NEW-ORLEANS.

WASHINGTON, Thursday, Dec. 1.

The Daily Chronicle of this morning, speaking of Major-Gen. BANKS' preparations to shortly leave here for New-Orleans, to resume his position as head of the Department of the Gulf, including Louisiana, Arkansas and Missouri, says:

"His civil policy has met the approval of the President of the United States, and he returns to his post at the request of the Executive, and it is no less pleasant to announce that the friendliest relations exist between Major-Gen. BANKS and Major-Gen. CANBY, in charge of the military operations in the Division of West Mississippi."

From Port Royal.

The steamer Melville, from PORT ROYAL Nov. 27, brings the report that on the 26th inst. Gen FOSTER had issued orders for all citizens to be enrolled at that place, and report for duty on the 29th. These were to be formed in companies for home protection. The United States forces there were to move immediately, destination unknown. The Melville reports that after leaving port, at about 6 P. M., heard heavy and quick firing at Port Royal, but could not tell its meaning.

The Lake Erie Raid Case.

TORONTO, C. W., Thursday, Dec. 1.

The case of BURLEIGH, one of the Lake Erie raiders, came before the court to-day, Mr. RUSSELL, District Attorney of Detroit, conducted the case Witnesses identified the prisoner, and testified to the part taken by him in the raid. The case was then adjourned to next week.

Seizure of Ammunition, &c.

COLLINGWOOD, C. W., Thursday, Dec. 1.

The customs authorities yesterday seized some boxes which, on examination, were found to contain a gun-carriage, with canister, grape, shot, etc., for 18-pounder guns. The Georgian is expected daily.

The City Railroads.

DRY DOCK, EAST BROADWAY AND BATTERY RAILROAD COMPANY,
OFFICE No. 282 ELEVENTH-STREET, Dec. 1, 1864.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

In reply to that portion of the article in your issue of this morning which refers to this road, I desire to state that the drivers in the employ of this company are instructed to drive on a slow trot the whole length of the City Hall Park, and to walk their horses around all curves, or when crossing the tracks of other roads. The conductor and driver who were on car No. 30 on Tuesday last have been suspended from duty until the charge made against them can be investigated. I have only to add, that every well founded complaint made to me against any employe of this company will receive immediate attention and prompt redress. Very respectfully, your obedient servant.

WM. RICHARDSON, Superintendent.

New-York Historical Society.

The first of a series of three lectures on Egypt and Egyptian Antiquities, was delivered before this society, last evening, by Prof. JOHN WILLIAM DRAPER, LL. D.

The Professor spoke of the position of Ancient Egypt in the family of nations, and what might be learned from their example. He spoke of their antiquities, pyramids, &c., and the peculiar opinions that led to their erection, and more particularly those that induced the people to embalm their dead. He then spoke of the causes which led to the permanence of the Egyptian system, showing that it lasted without material change for about forty centuries. He attributed this durability to the homogeneous character of the people, as arising from the unvariable climate in which they live. He then drew a contrast between that climate and the climate of the United States, showing how the latter produces great differences in the character of man, more especially in those who live in the North, as compared with those who live in the South. He then proposed the inquiry whether it is possible in any manner to compensate for these variations of climate, and to correct the disturbance that perpetually arises through emigration. He showed that, to a great extent, this can be done by public education and intercommunication, and that thus an approach can be made to the condition of things that gave such remarkable permanence to the Egyptian political system.

At the close of the lecture it was announced that Mr. PRIME would give the next lecture, on the Burial-places of Egypt, and that on the following Thursday Dr. ANDERSON would unroll the mummy he had given to the Society.

INTERESTING MISCELLANEOUS INTELLIGENCE.

From Our Special Correspondent.

SAVANNAH RIVER, Georgia, Sunday, Nov. 27, 1864.

We are scarcely less excited here on the question of Gen. SHERMAN'S movement than the rebels themselves, and we know that they are stirred as they never have been before at the boldness of his advance. The Savannah journals are not brought to us now until after they are two days old, for fear that we shall be too highly elated at the strait in which the Confederacy finds itself. The last authentic information from the rebels tells us that SHERMAN is advancing in three columns, with a force estimated at 60,000 men, at least one half of whom are cavalry and mounted infantry. The public buildings of Milledgeville, the capital of Georgia, have been burnt, and the Legislature, being in session at the time of SHERMAN'S advance force entering the town, adjourned in confusion, some of the members paying as high as one thousand dollars for transportation a distance of eight miles. You will be able to form an idea of the reign of terror that now obtains in Georgia and South Carolina, from the flies of newspapers which I forward. A levy en masse has been ordered, and BEAUREGARD is in command of the troops. There seems to be most perturbation because SHERMAN has shrouded his objective point in mystery, by sending out immense bands of mounted men to ravage the country on the flanks of his main columns. On Monday last he was at Gordon, with artillery, about fifteen miles from Milledgeville, and had fortified the Georgia Central Railroad between Gordon and Griswoldville, cutting off 2,500 of our prisoners that were to have been brought up from Camp Sumter, at Andersonville. To impede his progress, the bridges over the Oconee River have been destroyed and the country devastated in his front, so that he shall be unable to subsist upon it. The roads have been to a great extent rendered impassable by felled trees and pitfalls, and the rebels claim that during the past three days the progress of the Union troops eastward has not exceeded six miles. They also claim that their cavalry are picking up large numbers of our stragglers, by dashing upon our rear and flanks. From all that I can learn, I believe SHERMAN'S main body to be within 125 miles of Savannah, with nothing to oppose him save the militia and such other unorganized forces as the emergency has brought together, and that the chances of his reaching the seaboard are at present altogether in his favor. Should he be delayed, by artificial obstructions of the road, long enough for LEE to detach a part of his army to confront him, GRANT in that case would be able to drive the rebels out of Virginia, and SHERMAN would doubtless find a mode of retreat, from the heart of rebeldom, southwestwardly to Mobile. A tremendously bold game is in progress on the militdry chessboard, and it is easy to see that the enemy believe it to be in our hands.

NEWS FROM REBEL SOURCES.

Our correspondent on the fleet in the Savannah River, Mr. H. J. WINSER, has supplied us with full files of Augusta and Savannah papers to the 26th ult., from which we glean the following intelligence about the campaign in Georgia:

SHERMAN'S PROGRESS.

OPERATIONS ON THE OCONEE.

From the Augusta Constitutionalist, Nov. 25.

The latest reliable intelligence from the direction of Macon comes from our scouts sent out from Sparta. These scouts, who came in last evening, report that a body of from 600 to 1,000 Yankee cavalry had crossed the Oconee, and were moving slowly and nervously toward Sparta. Beyond some burning and stealing, this small band of troopers has no special significance. We have reason to believe that they will be seriously bushwhacked, and, we trust, cut to pieces.

One of the most encouraging features of this "invasion" is the fact, which we have from the most undoubted testimony, that hundreds of the enemy are straggling from their main bodies, and searching for somebody to take them into custody. They are sprawling all about the country, and those who are not willing to surrender can be beautifully bushwacked. Let all the old and young folks turn out and give the rascals a taste of Georgia State sovereignty. The demoralization of our enemy is most providential for us, and ought to stiffen the backbone of the most timid amongst us.

Three hundred prisoners arrived last evening from up the Georgia Road, and four hundred more are to arrive to-day.

These prisoners report that a division of three thousand of our cavalry had followed them all the way, dashing upon them constantly, picking up stragglers and capturing wagons.

Hampton's invincible cavalry will be with us in a day or two, and hang upon their eastern flank.

Gen. Wayne has whipped Kilpatrick's cavalry division at the Oconee Bridge, driving them headlong and in confusion. He telegraphs that he is perfectly able to take care of himself.

Wheeler, with many thousand men, has intercepted the enemy at a point, at present unmentionable, and is giving them no rest, night or day.

The main body of the enemy is moving down the western side of the Oconee, and has shown no disposition, thus far, to attempt its passage.

The skies are brightening. Everything looks glorious, and ere long Mr. SHERMAN will get a lashing that he little dreamed of when he made his "On to the Gulf." The gulf of perdition be upon him!

From the Savannah News, Nov. 26.

We have no reliable information from the front to-day, of any movements that are going on. We learn that the opinion prevails to some extent in military circles, that Sherman intends yet to fall upon Macon, and not press on toward the coast at present.

Our own forces are gathering and going to the proper place. We are informed that over three thousand rations were issued in this city this morning to newly arrived veteran troops, and we are also officially informed that four or five thousand more will pass through here in two or three days.

LATEST FROM THE FRONT—THE ENEMY REPULSED AT OCONEE.

From the Savannah News, Nov. 24.

Yesterday an official dispatch was received here stating that the enemy, with a large force, had flanked Gen. Wayne at Oconee Bridge, C. R. R., and compelled him to retire; and furthermore, that the former had crossed his forces at Ball's Ferry, some four miles below the bridge. This was most unwelcome news, and produced many long faces.

At a late hour last night, however, we were favored with the following dispatch to Gen. HARDEE, who is now in the city, containing the cheering news that the enemy had been repulsed and driven across the river. All honor to our gallant young townsman:

AUGUSTA, Nov. 23—9 P. M.

Lieut.-Gen. Hardee, Savannah:

Major HARTRIDGE has driven the enemy back across the Oconee River. Gen. WAYNE has returned to the Bridge and opened the office there.

J. BRENNER, Supt.

ANOTHER VERSION OF THE ABOVE.

From the Augusta Constitutionalist, Nov. 23.

Gen. WAYNE, having been pressed back by a superior force from Gordon, retired to Oconee Station. At this point he was receiving reinforcements from the proper quarter. His position is an exceedingly strong one, being flanked on either side by impenetrable swamps, and only approachable by the narrow defile of the railroad. This pass is well protected by log forts and stockades, and will baffle the assault of heavy columns.

FROM THE GEORGIA ROAD.

From the Augusta Chronicle and Sentinel Nov. 25.

Trains ran up as far as Greensboro yesterday. Passengers could impart no information concerning the whereabouts of the enemy.

One hundred and forty-six Yankee prisoners were brought down last night from Athens. They were "gobbled up" by GRAHAM'S scouts, Texan Rangers, and squads of other commands.

There was a rumor in town last night that the main body of Sherman was progressing towards the Altamaha River. Another rumor stated that a body of the Federals was within sixteen miles of Sparta. We cannot vouch for the truth of either of these rumors. We merely give them as reported to us.

FROM THE CENTRAL RAILROAD.

From the Augusta Chronicle and Sentinel, Nov. 25.

Gen. WHEELER with about ten thousand men has crossed the Oconee and effected a junction with Gen. WAYNE. Gen. Wayne has successfully defended the bridge over the Oconee River. On this road the cadets of the Georgia Military Institute, who fought under him, have acquitted themselves nobly.

The enemy have left Gen. WAYNE'S front and are supposed to have joined the main body.

There are no Yankees this side of the Oconee River.

WAR RUMORS.

From the Savannah News, Nov. 24.

It was reported in the city yesterday, on the authority of a private dispatch, that Milledgeville had not been visited by the Yankees, and the capitol and other public buildings were still saf.

The Augusta Register of the 23d says: "The depot at Madison is burned, also all other depots on the road. The column advancing on the Georgia road is composed of SLOCUM'S corps. It is attended by cavalry, variously estimated at from two to five thousand."

Reports from up the Central Railroad indicate that the right wing of the enemy are still advancing, but the exact progress made is not clearly understood. There is a report that they have crossed the Oconee, four miles below the railroad bridge, WHEELER is close on their rear. Our dispatches give some Yankee news of SHERMAN'S intentions.

The Augusta Constitutionalist of Wednesday, Nov. 23, has the following:

"It is reported that the enemy has crossed the Oconee in force, near Milledgeville. This rumor, however, is strenuously contradicted by other parties. Milledgeville is reported as burned."

The column operating on the Georgia Road kept the western side, and struck off in the direction of Macon, as though contemplating a junction with the force in that vicinity.

Prisoners captured from the enemy on the Georgia Road state that the intention of SHERMAN was to avoid Augusta, and strike Macon probably—Savannah certainly. Atlanta is now in our possession. A strong force of cavalry is following SHERMAN, and if is not impossible that the invincible FORREST—SHERMAN'S evil genius—may, ere long, hang like a wolf on his rear and flanks.

From the Augusta Register, Nov. 22.

We conversed with an intelligent gentlemen who arrived last night by the passenger train up the Georgia Railroad.

He informed us that on Monday the Federals left the line of the Georgia road, going directly to Eatonton.

The only Yankees who came to Greensboro' were a few stragglers, who were captured.

The trains ran up to Greensboro' and Athens yesterday.

A portion of Maj. GRAHAM'S command reached this city last night. They report that they visited Atlanta several days since and found it completely evacuated and burned. They state that the Federals took all the cattle and forage in their route, but did not molest those who staid at home.

They captured two or three hundred Yankee stragglers, who will probably reach here to-day.

They also corroborate the statement of the Federals leaving the Georgia Railroad and going in the direction of Eatonton.

THE WHEREABOUTS OF THE YANKEES.

From the Augusta Chronicle & Sentinel Nov. 25.

The whereabouts of the main body of the Yankee army is involved in mystery, and there is not a military man in this city that can definitely locate them, in our opinion. We should not be like Micawber, waiting for "something to turn up," but should "turn up something" ourselves.

CHEERING.

From the Augusta Constitutionalist, Nov. 23.

We have intelligence of the most important character, which we deem contraband at present. Suffice it to say, that matters are beginning to assume a comfortable appearance, and Mr. SHERMAN had better keep his weather eye open, or may hap he will get it closed.

PRISONERS.

Several Yankees, white and black, were captured on this side of the Oconee, and brought to this city.

PREPARATIONS FOR RESISTING SHERMAN.

REINFORCEMENTS FROM WILMINGTON UNDER BRAGG.

From the Augusta Chronicle and Sentinel, Nov. 24.

It will be seen from a dispatch in another column that Gen. Bragg has left Wilmington with reinforcements for this place. These, we are told, number about ten thousand. These, in addition to those who started for Augusta from another section on Saturday, will make quite a formidable army.

The following is the dispatch referred to:

WILMINGTON, Nov. 22.

Hon. R. H. May, Mayor of Augusta:

I leave here to-day with reinforcements for Augusta. Exhort your people to be confident and resolute.

BRAXTON BRAGG.

Reinforcements are constantly arriving in our city. The air resounds with the shriek of the engine whistle day and night. The soldiers appear to be in excellent spirits, and to enjoy the prospect of a fight ahead. The gloom which overspread our city a short time since has disappeared entirely. Everything wears a cheerful aspect.

From the Augusta Constitutionalist, Nov. 23.

Our citizens were gratified last evening by seeing among the troops arriving in our city, a portion of Hampton's splendid cavalry from Virginia.

With the exception of the buz created by the militia enrolling officers, all remains quiet. The "reliable gentleman" did not have so much to say as usual up to a late hour last night. No one believes that SHERMAN is half so crazy as to venture on a collision with the forces at this place. The splendid fortifications that surround the city would require the expenditure of more ammunition than he can afford to lose without any base of supplies.

He will not risk a battle, but avoid our forces when ever they appear in formidable proportions; destroy

THURSDAY, Dec. 1—P. M.

The Banks of this city have to-day taken from the Government $20,000,000 of 5-20 years 6 ℔ cent. Stock, at the rate of 105 ℔ cent., or within one ℔ cent. of the market price, as rapidly advanced in the last week or ten days. The National Banks of Boston and Philadelphia took $5,000,000 on the same terms. The First National and Bank of Commerce lead the list in this city, with $2,250,000 and $2,500,000 respectively. The negotiations is understood to be about the last of the Gold bearing Stocks of the United States, for some time to come, as heretofore intimated. The amount was not of sufficient magnitude to compensate for the trouble and risk as to the rate of bidding to the Treasury Department, nor was it deemed proper to disturb the Money market or the present Stock Exchange appreciation of our Gold bearing Stocks, by advertising the Loan for award to the highest bidders. To-day the Banks received their half-yearly interest on the 5 ℔ cent. Coupon Legal Tenders, and these Notes which the Government is anxious to call in and cancel, can be used as Currency, without loss of interest, in paying for the $20,000,000 of new Stock. In this way, the steady ease of the Money Market will be preserved, while the change of security will prove decidedly advantageous to the Banks and to their heavy dealers who are permitted to participate in the purchase of 5-20s.

We have heard the private way of this negotiation objected to, and not without the appearance of good reasons against its repetition. The discretion to the official in the Treasury Office here is a large and it may be a dangerous one. In the present instance we have reason to believe it has not been abused to the prejudice of the Government or to the sudden detriment of the large and useful distributing Bankers and Brokers of the Government Loans. But the case might have been otherwise, and possibly would have been, had the importunities of certain parties, supposed to have influence in the Treasury Office, and who are said to have been selling Governments short in anticipation of this negotiation been hastily yielded to.

The following is a complete list of the Banks taking the $25,000,000 of 5-20 United States Stock at 105 ℔ cent., to-day:

At the Stock Exchange, this morning, the Government Stocks were in large demand at yesterday's quotations. On Wall-street, after the sale of $20,000,000 of 5-20s was made known, lower figures by ⅛@¼ ℔ cent. were made on some few sales, but at the Second Board, 106 ℔ cent. was again bid and paid for $200,000, and bid for more. The 6 ℔ cents of 1881 continued in request at 112⅛@112¼ ℔ cent.

The Gold Room fell 2¼@3 ℔ cent. on the victory in Tennessee; but recovered in the afternoon on adverse rumors, via Richmond, as to SHERMAN's progress through Georgia. The sales ranged from 229, as at the close yesterday, to 225¼ ℔ cent.; and,up again to 228@229 ℔ cent.

The Railway list at the Stock Exchange was generally steadv through the day, and on part of the Western Roads left off firm in the afternoon. The upward turn in Mariposa Gold continued.

The following quotations were made at the close of dealings as compared with yesterday afternoon. The Reading Dividend in new stock, at par, declared at Philadelphia, is 15 per cent. No cash dividend has yet been made.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

THE REBELLION.

The handsome victory won by our forces under Gen. THOMAS, in Tennessee, on Wednesday, was received and announced by the TIMES yesterday morning, several hours ahead of our cotemporaries. The details supplied by our special dispatch from Nashville are full of thrilling interest, and prove it to have been one of the most hotly contested battles of the war. The attack was made by the rebels under HOOD upon our fortified position at Franklin, and though the action was comparatively brief, yet it was very sanguinary and bloody. The rebels charged our ranks, and were met with terrible slaughter from our guns. Every attempt failed, and they suffered a loss of six thousand in killed and wounded, beside twelve hundred prisoners, among whom were one Brigadier-General and many Field officers. Our loss was less than a thousand, owing to our men being sheltered. During the night our forces retired a short distance, nnd took up a still stronger position, nearer Nashville, where, at the latest hour, Gen. THOMAS awaited HOOD'S renewed onset. Our correspondent, whose account is very graphic, and whose means of information are unsurpassed, assures us that entire confidence in, and satisfaction with, the situation prevails.

The latest intelligence from Gen. SHERMAN is that furnished through Savannah and Augusta papers, full files of which to Nov. 26 we have received from our enterprising correspondent with Col. MULFORD'S exchange fleet in the Savannah River. It will be seen, however, that the intelligence from these papers does not throw much light upon Gen. SHERMAN'S position. All their reports, carefully analyzed, simply show that SHERMAN'S movements have been so mysterious that even the rebels cannot divine his intentions. It is quite evident, however, that up to the 25th, he had not crossed the Oconee River in force, nor had he met with any serious opposition, though the rebels report that KILPATRICK'S cavalry had been repulsed in an attempt to cross that stream. It would also appear to be the impression in Savannah and Augusta, that SHERMAN is moving directly for the former city, completely avoiding Augusta, and thus crossing the Altamaha River, below the Georgia Central Railroad. Rebel reinforcements were concentrating at Augusta with considerable rapidity. Gen. BRAGG was on his way from Wilmington with a force reported to be ten thousand strong. HAMPTON'S cavalry, from Virginia, had also arrived at Augusta. The Government works, powder mills, &c., had been removed from the latter place. Gov. BROWN is at Macon, and is thus cut off from the eastern portion of the State. Consequently an acting Governor has had to be appointed for that portion of the State.

Our special correspondent with the flag-of-truce fleet at Savannah writes, under date of Nov. 27, that the steamers were being filled with exchanged prisoners and sent to Annapolis from day to day. The most helpless among the prisoners are placed on board the Baltic, which was fitted up as a hospital ship, with every appliance and convenience for the alleviation of their distress. The flag-of-truce fleet was the innocent cause of a disaster to a bold blockade-runner on the 26th. He had succeeded in getting past the blockading fleet in the night, but took alarm on coming upon Col. MULFORD'S peaceful vessels, which he took for a new fleet of gunboats, and ran his vessel, a schooner, ashore. She was picked up in the morning, and proved to be a valuable prize.

The steamer Matanzas, from New-Orleans, November 23, brings intelligence that Gen. A. L. LEE has returned to Baton Rouge, from a successful raid into Mississippi, with 200 prisoners, including 29 officers. A battle had taken place at Liberty, Miss., in which the enemy were badly beaten.

It is understood that Major-Gen. W. F. (Baldy) SMITH is about to be appointed to a high command in the Southwest.

GENERAL NEWS.

Both boards of the Common Council met yesterday. The Aldermen concurred in the resolution to permit the "Masonic Mission" to erect a temporary building on the square at the Five Points, for the sale of coal and flour at cost prices. The Councilmen transacted nothing but routine business. Both boards adjourned to Monday, the Aldermen at 1, and the Councilmen at 2 P. M.

Last evening a meeting of the Union men of the Twenty-second Ward, was held in the hall corner of Forty-seventh-street and Broadway, for the purpose of celebrating the State and National victories, and ratifying the Union nominations for charter officers. There was a large attendance and several eloquent speakers addressed the meeting.

The Veteran Soldiers' Union Club held a spirited meeting last evening at the Academy of Music, to ratify the recent Union election triumphs.

Breadstuffs were quiet and cheaper yesterday. Provisions were depressed, especially Pork, which opened much lower, though closing more firmly. A moderate business was transacted in Petroleum, Whisky, Hay, Hops, Leather and Tobacco. Cotton was heavy and declining. Tallow was active, but at reduced prices. The principal Freight engagements were 2,500 hhds. Tobacco, for Liverpool, (within a few days,) at 15s. @17s. 6d.

The Banks of this City yesterday purchased $20,000,000 of U. S. 5-20 Stock from the Treasury, at the rate of 105 ₩ cent. The Government Stocks were generally firm and in demand at the Stock Exchange. The Gold Room fell to 225¼ ₩ cent. on the victory in Tennessee, but subsequently rallied on secesh rumors from Georgia.

Several Boston newspapers, whose compositors are on a strike, have received help from very unexpected sources. In the Traveller office, two clergymen—one a Methodist and the other a Universalist—are working "at case," having volunteered their services to pull the paper through this trouble. In the Herald office the proprietor assumed the entire labor of the editorial department, while his editors and reporters set the type. A judge in one of the courts sent a message to the editors of the Journal that he was ready to read proof, or to work in any other position where his labor could be made available. The cashier of one of the leading banks in Boston offers "to go without his paper for a month, and pay for it, too," to help the newspaper proprietors. Two or three members of the Boston bar, who formerly handled "stick and rule," have also reported themselves ready for duty, if it shall be necessary to call upon them.

The Washington Republican of Wednesday says: "Gen. BANKS has received his orders and instructions from the President with reference to the military and civil government of the Department of the Gulf, and will return to New-Orleans forthwith and resume command of that department, and will carry out to its completion the policy of the Government, which he so ably inaugurated in bringing Louisiana back into the Union as a free State. Mrs. BANKS will accompany the General upon his return to New-Orleans. The General will leave this city in a few days, his delay being wholly caused by official matters."

It is stated that the President, in his forthcoming message, will recommend an advance of one grade in the navy similar to that given in the army by the appointment of GRANT as Lieutenant General. The new grade, it is said, will be that of Vice-Admiral, and immediately on its creation, the Navy Department will recommend, and the President will nominate to the Vice-Admiralty the Salamander of the Navy, Rear-Admiral FARRAGUT.

The Washington correspondent of the Cincinnati Gazette asserts that one of the last messages that passed over the telegraph wires to Atlanta, before the place was abandoned, was one of several thousand words in cyphre, from GRANT to SHERMAN, embodying the final counsels and directions of the Lieutenant-General.

The Washington Star states that Major-Gen. JOHN POPE left Washington on Tuesday in the government dispatch boat Keyport for City Point. Report has it he goes to assume command of the Second Corps, lately commanded by Gen. HANCOCK, who has been assigned to the First Corps, which is to be organized in this District.

The Philadelphia North American states that Gen. MEADE'S commission as Major-General in the regular army bears date Aug. 19, the day when an expedition under his command captured Reams' Station, and destroyed a stretch of the Weldon Railroad.

Mrs. SHERMAN, wife of the General, left Cincinnati on Friday, for South Bend, Ind., where she is to spend the Winter, superintending the education of their children, who are inmates of the Catholic institution of that place.

Delusive Prospects of Peace.

There is something really melancholy in the propositions made by such men as Gov. BROWN, of Georgia, and Mr. J. T. LEACH, of North Carolina, for a convention of the States to agree on terms of peace in which the independence and separate sovereignty of each of them should be fully acknowledged; because they reveal an incapacity to comprehend the temper and opinions of the Northern people, and their object in prosecuting the war, which one can hardly help considering incurable.

Reunion secured, after all that has occurred, in any such way, would be based simply on an ordinary treaty of peace, such as, at this moment, maintains the good relations of Italy and Austria, or Russia and Turkey, violable, of course, whenever the inclination or convenience of either of the parties call for it.

No such agreement, we need hardly say, would constitute a proper basis either for public credit or for any other purpose needing united action. Nothing, as the history of the world shows, will secure what we seek, except a National Government, against which it shall be treason to rebel, and which nothing but successful revolution can overthrow. The South has long held that the Constitution was a treaty of alliance, and we see the result of that doctrine in the rebellion; and with that result before our eyes, what should induce us to enter into another treaty of alliance, to be broken probably in a few years, from causes very similar, and which have their root not in any institution whatever, but in human nature itself?

Therefore we shall have no convention of States; no treaty or arrangements of any kind with anybody in the Confederacy, which shall involve the smallest iota of a concession that any body of men in the South now in arms are aught else than citizens of the United States in revolt against the Government. To accord them any character of sovereignty or independence, would be to render all our fighting just as vain and useless as the acknowledgment of Confederate independence. It would prove one of two things—a dissolution of the Union, or a lengthened armistice. Either would be fatal to the existence of this Government.

It would be just as well, therefore, if the peace party at the South would give up at once and forever all idea of ever seeing a convention of "Sovereign States," in which those of the North will be represented. They could not even send delegates to such a convention, or enter into any agreement with any Southern State, on any subject whatever, without repudiating the Constitution the authority of which they have been fighting for four years to uphold. Section 10, of Article I expressly forbids any State from entering into "any agreement or compact with another State, or with a foreign Power." So that whether we regard the Confederate States as simply in revolt, or as independent Powers, all attempts to conclude any treaty or arrangement with them as separate States would be revolutionary. Can any sane Southern man believe, after due reflection on the evidences of Northern earnestness which he is daily receiving, and which he has received since 1861, that we would stultify ourselves to such an extent as to follow the example of the men we have been so long trying to punish as criminals, unless we were forced into it? The notion which the Southern reconstructionists seem to entertain, that the offer to throw DAVIS and his Government overboard, and each, as separate States, to negotiate, as sovereigns, for a peace, is an offer of compromise—is sheer delusion. We can no more treat with Georgia as an independent Power than we can with the whole Confederacy. As a State which has been in revolt, and is anxious to stop fighting, and come back to the Union, of course we should be delighted to meet her, but in no other character would meeting her be of any use, and through no other channel than the National Government established at Washington, could we have anything to say to her. This war has been from the outset maintained by delusions on one side or other. There will be peace only when they are destroyed, and there could not be a more mischievous one than the idea that the great majority of the Northern people see any resting peace short of reunion on the basis of the existing Constitution. As soon as the South abandons it finally, we shall be one step, and a long one, nearer the end.

The Fierce Battle in Tennessee.

The one-legged rebel HOOD has again put in practice the system of quick, furious, persistent and desperate assault by which he and Stonewall JACKSON have been distinguished on the rebel side; and he has met with the same bloody luck which befell him when he tried the same thing at Atlanta.

The battle between HOOD and THOMAS, on Wednesday afternoon, at Franklin, Tenn., eighteen miles south of Nashville, regarding which we have both official and unofficial dispatches, was indecisive. Only two of the four corps of the enemy are reported as being engaged, and so far as their repulse is concerned, it is eminently satisfactory. There is no difficulty, after reading the vivid dispatches of our special correspondent, in crediting the statements as to the enormous and disproportionate losses of the rebels in this battle. The gallant and conservative SCHOFIELD, who commanded on the occasion, states the rebel loss at five or six thousand, and our correspondent puts it at a still higher figure, while our own casualties were under a thousand. This disparity is accounted for by the circumstance that our men fought behind breastworks established in an open field, and by our wholesale use of grape and canister upon the enemy. It is reported that the rebels made four successive charges in columns four lines deep; but their furious assaults resulted in failure to carry the position. They were permitted to dash themselves against our works, and HOOD threw them forward with a recklessness of life equal to anything he has ever displayed during the four months he has had command of the rebel army in the Southwest.

In the course of the evening after the battle, Gen. THOMAS retired his army to the vicinity of Nashville. This we judge to be a strategic movement, very like what might have been expected from the imperturbable and far-seeing Gen. THOMAS, who looks to the final result and general summing up of a campaign more than to partial and brilliant victories. He knows HOOD of old, and understands his style thoroughly. He will effect two, and perhaps, three or four objects by planting himself behind the works of Nashville. He will combine his forces in a compact body, with the corps of Gen. A. J. SMITH, which has just arrived at Nashville. He will get into a position of far greater natural and artificial strength than Franklin—Nashville being one of the most elaborately fortified cities on the continent; and he may be able to draw HOOD up there and induce him to dash his army to pieces against our works.

Thus we view the situation in Tennessee, after reviewing carefully all the facts that have thus far come to hand.

THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE AND THE FLORIDA.—It is important that the discussions of a body, such as the New-York Chamber of Commerce, on such grave questions as the interpretation of international law, should be almost judicial in their temperateness. And we think we may well felicitate that body on its having reached a rational conclusion at its yesterday's session, in the matter of the communication of the merchants of Bahia respecting the capture of the Florida. To have returned that communication, as some ardent speakers recommended, because it came through the hands of the British Consul at Bahia, would not have well comported with the dignity of the chamber. And even the fact that the communication in question contained positive misstatements, could hardly be said to justify its summary rejection. The merchants of Bahia, doubtless, offered their remonstrance, believing that what they stated was true. And their employment of the agency of the British Consul does not appear to have involved anything beyond getting his official certificate for the genuineness of the signatures appended to the letter. It was, therefore, all things considered, a wise and judicious course to refer the letter to a committee, so that its allegations might be calmly considered, and an answer framed which should not discredit the character of the foremost commercial chamber on the continent. Passionate appeals or petulant decisions are but indications of weakness in any deliberative body. They could not emanate from a chamber of eminent merchants without a serious reflection on their discretion.

The Border Burglars and Pirates.

We believe we are correct in stating, that the visit of Attorney-General CARTIER, of Lower Canada, to Washington, led to a satisfactory understanding between the Government and the Provincial authorities in regard both to the mode of dealing with the rebel raiders now in custody, and to the best means of preventing thieving incursions by land or water with the Border States in future.

Mr. CARTIER has been in friendly consultation here with Maj.-Gen. DIX, and before his return to Quebec, there is no doubt that a common course of action will be agreed upon, which will give ample assurance for the assertion of the public authority hereafter on both sides of the line—whether the raiders take the character of "belligerents" or common thieves.

THE FACTS CONNECTED WITH THE SINKING OF THE FLORIDA.—For the credit of the service, an official report of all the facts connected with the sinking of the Florida, cannot be published an hour too soon. It is to the interest of rebels and the abettors of rebellion, that the destruction of the vessel should be made to appear, not a thing of accident, but of design. This surmise, however base may be its origin, must be removed beyond the point of cavil. We might possibly be able, under certain conditions, to afford to make an open quarrel over a disputed question of international right. But we cannot afford to have it advertised that insubordination rules in any branch of the national service.

In advance of the official details connected with the Florida's case, we have before us what appears to be at least a fair statement of the facts, from a source anything but friendly to the Administration. The correspondent of an Opposition morning journal, who was himself in part an eye-witness of the affair, supplies a very circumstantial account, the gist of which we shall endeavor to give in few words.

The Florida was coaling at Norfolk, and having got her supply, was preparing to move from her anchorage on the 19th of November, when the transport steamer Alliance, in crossing the bow of the captured vessel, struck her so as to knock off her head chains and booms, though otherwise, apparently, doing her no great damage. Indeed so slight was the collision that the Florida was considered in a safe enough condition to make for Newport's News. The prime trouble, indeed, was found to be, that the craft had been in a leaky condition from the day when she was captured in Bahia Bay—so much so, indeed, that since her capture her steam-pump had been kept almost constantly at work during her voyage northward. The collision at Norfolk, slight as it was, seems to have been sufficient to shake her timbers to a far more serious extent than was anticipated when she started to make the passage from Norfolk to Newport's News.

During that passage, the utmost exertions of the crew were used to stop the leakage, and with partial success. On reaching Newport's News, an additional pump from the ram Atlanta was put on board the Florida. Capt. WOODWARD, of the Atlanta, went himself on board the damaged vessel to see what measures could be devised to keep her afloat. And unless we are to suppose the officers in charge of both vessels to be men utterly devoid of honor and of truth, we are bound in fairness to believe their protestations, (already unofficially laid before the public,) that they did their utmost to prevent the destruction of the vessel.

This complexion of the case, we confess, we desire to see thoroughly officially confirmed. Our Naval service must be above even the suspicion of being privy to acts of questionable "smartness." And we have full confidence, from what is now before us, that in this case it will show a clear record.

THE REGISTRATION OF SOUTHERNERS.—The order issued by Major-Gen. DIX, in October, among other regulations, laid down this: "All persons from the insurgent States now within the department, or who may come within it on or before the 3d of November, proximo, are hereby required to report themselves for registry on or before that day." The order of last Saturday, requiring all new comers from the insurgent States to report themselves, does not at all exempt the older sojourners from this duty. We are glad to learn that the duty is to be enforced upon the thousands of the latter who have neglected it. Serious consequences will result to them from its further disregard. The public safety requires that the amount of the Southern population in our city should be known, and also what proportion of it recognize loyal obligations. It is certain that the rebel malice which lately attempted to lay the best portion of our city in ashes, still exists in all its intensity. Nothing short of the utmost precaution can guard against its further work; and, to that end, it is first of all important to learn who these rebel enemies in our city are, and where they keep themselves. Surely loyal Southerners—and we cheerfully recognize that there are some such—must be glad of an opportunity thus publicly to attest their real disposition, and to save themselves from being confounded with our public enemies. So far as concerns the latter, they would have no right to complain were the requirement ten-fold more severe. Nothing but extreme magnanimity tolerates them at at all within the loyal lines. Let them take heed.

THE INCENDIARIES.—The Military Commission now engaged in an inquest into the rebel plot for burning down the city, have sufficient evidence before them to show that the conspiracy which broke out here this day week is merely an extension of the rebel burglary operations on the Canadian frontier. It is feared that some of the more vicious of the gang have been able to make good their escape across the border.

It is of the utmost importance that, pari passu with the proceedings before the Military Commission, general registration of the Southern refugees should be enforced, without any nervous scruples as to its effect on the sensibilities of the parties concerned. The prime question is not what will inconvenience the skulking rebel population in our midst, but what will insure protection, effectual and permanent, against even the faintest attempt to repeat the dastardly plot of last week. We have to do more than punish the score or two of ruffians that may be convicted by the Military Commission. We have to overawe the gang against which direct evidence of criminality may be wanting. And this can only effectually be done by summarily treating as spies all who neglect to register, in conformity with the orders of the Major-General Commanding.

City Politics.

In the Fifth Aldermanic District, the Union candidate for Alderman is ALEXANDER H. KRECH, of the Ninth Ward. He is a practical printer, and an active politician. He has been a member of the Board of Councilmen, and performed the duties of the office with fidelity, ability and integrity. He is an honest, effective and worthy man, and deserves general support. The Democratic party have nominated two Democrats against him, and the Citizens' Association have added a third. We hope he will be elected.

The Union candidates for Councilmen in the Sixth Senatorial District (Ninth, Fifteenth, Sixteenth and Eighteenth Wards,) commend themselves to the support of all who desire an honest and energetic administration of city affairs. The men selected are known to be men of integrity and capacity. Most of them have had considerable experience in the local Government, and not one of them is open to the least suspicion of unfaithfulness to any public trust. They all deserve a cordial support.

Amusements.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC.—"Don Sebastian" will be performed this evening in New-York, and to-morrow, (Saturday,) in Brooklyn, in the same splendid style and with the same cast as produced here.

NEWS FROM WASHINGTON.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

THE CAPTURE OF NEW-CREEK.

WASHINGTON, Thursday, Dec. 1.

The recent capture of New-Creek, Va., by the rebel Generals ROSSER and PAYNE, was a complete surprise, reflecting no honor upon the commanding officer of that post. Most of our men who were captured escaped to the woods on the following night, and have returned to our lines. MERRITT'S division are in close pursuit of these marauders.

WASHINGTON, Thursday, Dec. 1.

NEW POSTAL FACILITIES.

Assistant Postmaster-General MCLELLAN is making arrangements with the agents of different railroad lines between this city and New York, to insure one, if not two, through mail trains between the two cities. It is almost certain that a mail train will leave here at 5 every afternoon for New-York, with a postal car, on which letters can be mailed up to the time of starting.

FUNERAL OF AN EX-MEMBER OF CONGRESS.

Hon. JACOB BROOM, formerly a prominent Pennsylvania politician and twice member of Congress from Philadelphia, was buried in this city yesterday. He was interred with Masonic honors.

PERSONAL.

Gen. FESSENDEN is here, suffering from hemorrhage caused by the amputation of his leg. Gen. EAGAN is also here. His wound is doing well, although his nervous system is prostrated. Gen. WAYNE, who commands one the bodies of rebels in Georgia, is son of Judge WAYNE, of the Supreme Court.

ARMY OF THE POTOMAC.

Advices from the Army of the Potomac to-day indicate no movement in progress.

Special Dispatches to the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Thursday, Dec. 1.

JUDGE HOLT DECLINES.

Yesterday, when the resignation of Attorney-General BATES took effect, the position was tendered to the Hon. JOSEPH HOLT, of Kentucky, but that gentleman, while thanking the President for this expression of his kindness and confidence, declined the appointment.

THE REPORTS.

The report of the Postmaster-General is the only one as yet completely in type. It is expected that the reports of the other heads of departments will be printed by Sunday.

THE MESSAGE.

From present appearances no advance copies of the President's Message will be sent to the newspaper press, and therefore that document will be communicated to the country, as last year, by telegraph, probably on Monday.

THE INCENDIARY PLOT.

The Secretary of State directs that the following dispatch be made known in New-York and Philadelphia, by telegraph:

OFFICE OF THE ASSOCIATED PRESS,
BALTIMORE, Dec. 1.

A letter just received from Annapolis, at the office of the Baltimore American, from a paroled prisoner from Georgia, contains a statement which appears to be important in connection with the recent attempts to burn the city of New-York. I send you the substance of the letter. It is signed by JOHN H. RIPPLE, Thirty-ninth Illinois Veteran Volunteers. He says, when he passed through Savannah, on the 19th, he was informed by a professed Union citizen that he would hear of the greatest city burning on record if the rebels succeeded in the North, and that it was to come off in a very few days. The party went on to state that one Capt. MONTGOMERY, formerly of Baltimore, who before the war was in the livery business, was the agent charged with the duty of firing the Northern cities. MONTGOMERY, he said, intended to burn New-York, Washington, Baltimore and Philadelphia. He further said that the rebels in Savannah were high in expectation of soon hearing of MONTGOMERY'S success, and that he was to receive a large sum of money if successful. The writer says he thought little of the statement until his arrival. He saw the accounts in the papers, whereupon he deemed it his duty to make this statement for publication. Deeming it proper that this information should be communicated to the Government, I take the liberty of sending you this dispatch. Respectfully.

PRYOR'S STATEMENT.

The statement which appeared in Wednesday morning's paper concerning the admission of ROGER A. PRYOR, in relation to Gen. SHERMAN'S movements, shortly after he was taken prisoner, was based on the narration of several gentlemen who conversed with him, and this fact was distinctly mentioned in the telegram. The denial of PRYOR simply raises a question of veracity between the parties to the conversation, without a reasonable prospect of an early adjustment.

CELEBRATION AT THE ACADEMY OF MUSIC.

Speeches by Gen. John Cochrane, Rev W. H. Boole, Col. T. B. Van Buren and Major E. A. Newman.

The Veteran Union Soldiers' Club held a ratification meeting at the Academy of Music, last evening. On the stage, was a number of veterans who had been maimed and disabled in the service of the country, but whose brave hearts were left to rejoice over the defeat of all the enemies to the Union and the old flag. Two fine brass field pieces were placed at either end of the stage, for the special reason, we presume, of making these brave boys feel more at home.

The entertainment was under the auspices of the following patriotic committee of ladies: Mrs. Wm. E. Dodge, Mrs. Henry J. Raymond, Mrs. George Opdyke, Mrs. Wm. A. Darling, Mrs. John J. Psaige, Mrs. John Cochrane, Mrs. F. Willis Fisher, Mrs. T. Van Buren, Mrs. A. L. Curtis, Mrs. Wm. D. Baker, Mrs. James B. Stephens, Mrs. Charles E. Strong, Mrs. J. K. Warren, Mrs. A. B. Mott, Mrs. J. C. Peters, Mrs. Edward Vanderpoel, Mrs. D. W. Dyer, Mrs. Anthony Allaire, Mrs. Frank S. Allen, Mrs. Wm. H. Boole, Mrs. Marshall B. Blake, Mrs. Lewis Francis.

The entire proceeds will be devoted for the benefit of the families of disabled soldiers. The house was not so full as it should have been, but we are happy to be able to say that large numbers of tickets were sold, so that the pecuniary success is certain. The fine music of DODWORTH'S band added much to the pleasure of the occasion.

The proceedings were opened by Dr. FIELDS, who, in a few timely remarks, introduced Gen. JOHN COCHRANE, who said he came with no studied preparation, but to speak a few plain words of congratulation of the late great victories at home—victories unparalled in their effect for the prolongation of this nation's life; victories paramount to any won by our armies in the field. We may well, after the expression of the will of the people at the ballot-box, on the 8th of November last, take heart of grace and congratulate ourselves, as we look forward to the future of this nation. Men and all material forms may pass away, but principle shall remain until all earth shall pass away; and this people have shown that they mean to maintain the integrity of principle—they have spoken it with a loud voice. There had been different principles set before the people; there was a platform formed at Cleveland, and though it may have been withdrawn, its principles remain, and shall remain as long as a promontory of this earth maintains its position. There was another platform formed at Baltimore, and that portion of it which maintains the unity of this nation, the people have sworn shall stand, and they will uphold it even to the bitter death. [Applause.] There was still another platform, cunningly constructed and fashioned, but its real real effect was to give this nation over to the enemy. But the work of the builders was rejected [cheers,] and that platform became the scaffold of the party who dared to stand upon it. The people have declared that the nation shall live, even if we must secure peace by desolating war. The unity of this nation shall be preserved [cheers;] and when traitors have been crushed, then shall be raised the Io Triumphe of an emancipated people. The integrity of this great principle glistens from the bayonet of every soldier on his lonely beat. SHERIDAN [cheers] shadows it forth from his rushing battalions; THOMAS [cheers,] in the crushing blows he deals; SHERMAN (cheers) who, like a torpedo, pursues his way even to the uttermost darkness of the rebellion; GRANT (loud cheers), who holds his firm grip on the throat of that brute, the rebellion—these all proclaim peace, a peace that shall be secure and lasting and shall stand to all time (cheers). And yet the peace flunkies tell us that the war is a failure and that the rebellion is not exhausted—notwithstanding the abrunken proportions of this once swollen treason, and with those bulldogs of war, GRANT (cheers), SHERMAN (cheers), THOMAS (cheers), SHERIDAN (cheers), tugging at its throat! We can see in the setting sun of the rebellion but the promise of a brighter dawn for the Union (cheers). The war a failure! My mutilated friend sitting here endued in the proud uniform of his country's cause, tells you another and a better story. [Great applause.] But though peace is certain and must speedily come, no peace can be accepted by this American people until the cause of this rebellion is crushed out. [Great applause.] Let the President call a special session of the new Congress, and in thirty days pass an amendment to the Constitution, abolishing this curse, and let the Governors of loyal States call their Legislatures together, and in twenty days ratify and accept this amendment, and by August next there will be inscribed upon the pages of this Constitution the glorious and immortal amendment that slavery is for ever prohibited within these United States. [Loud cheers.] Then and not before would he consent to a cessation of hostilities; then the nation shall be truly free. Mr. COCHRANE closed with an appeal for the families of these disabled men who have given their all for their country; in the name of this humanity, which Christ enobled, he appealed for these little ones who are here among us, and who are ours; and woe be to that man who shall turn his face away from them.

[Josephine Galop by the band.]

The Rev. WM. H. BOOLE was received with applause. Referring to the late victory, he said we had met the enemy and they were ours, horse, foot and artillery. [Cheers.] The people had met in contest, and on the morning of the 9th of November, the great Chicago army lay flat and stiffened upon the ground. [Applause.] We cannot calculate the great effects of this great triumph. It has turned the flank of European intervention, and by a Grant-like movement, tumbled them home upon their centres. It has given us also a Governor [cheers] to this great Empire State; a man true, and loyal and noble, who will occupy no equivocal position in this great struggle. SEYMOUR [cheers] going forth in the boldest movement of the age, may feel that he has a solid base in the millions of free hearts at the North. One great thing in this movement is that this noble General may in his course liberate our noble men in southern prisons. When our flag shall float over every dismantled battlement of secession and peace shall be proclaimed—then may God bless this blood-cemented Union, may all the fields of the South be glad, may their harvests be doubled—all except that prison-hell of Andersonville—there may no grass grow and no flower shed its fragrance upon the air, may the efforts of the husbandman yield only thorns and thistles, until like a deserted desert of the East, it shall stand forth a memento of the indignation of an avenging and a righteous God. Anathema Maranatha be upon that place forever! [Applause.] This great victory sets the seal of approbation upon the Emancipation proclamation, [cheers] and declares that freedom shall be real throughout the land. It has also given satisfaction to all parties, even those who clamored for peace. They were dying for peace—they wanted peace at any price—and they have it; victory to the right, and peace to them in the quiet of a political grave. [Cheers.] They sleep, and if they sleep they shall do well. They rest from their labor and are at peace. [Laughter and cheers.]

The next feature of the entertainment was the singing of the famous Brindisi from, Lucretia Borgia by Mlle. MORENSI, which was received with the greatest applause by the audience, who were so pleased that they applaudingly insisted upon its repetition.

Col. T. B. VAN BUREN said, with those sweet notes lingering in the air, he felt like keeping silent; but must try to perform his part. He said that the late victories have declared that this nation shall be a free nation in truth and in fact. God has given us a great victory, and now expects something of us. We must not now falter in the path of duty so plainly marked out for us. But even if we do fall in our duty, slavery shall perish throughout the land, and God and the right shall triumph. [Applause.]

Next was a fantasia on the grand piano by Herr SCHNEIDER, received with loud applause. Capt. J. C. SMITH read an original poem, followed by selections from the opera of "Ione," by Dodworth's Band. "Kathleen Mavourneen," then sung by Mlle. MORENSI, was received with great applause.

Major E. A. SHERMAN, of Nevada, next addressed the audience. He said, coming from that far-off State, he felt most like a stranger. Although distant, Nevada was true to the Union and to the principles of our institutions; and they would always remain so, till this rebellion was crushed. They were ever ready to pour forth their treasure of gold and silver for the Union and for the needs of our brave soldiers; and it was true metal, with no trace of copper in it.

The "Star-Spangled Banner" was then sung by Mlle. MORENSI amid great applause, and the entertainment closed with a national medley by the band.

Twenty-Second Ward Union Mass Meeting.

Last evening a Union Mass Meeting was held in the Forty-seventh street Hall, corner of Broadway, for the purpose of celebrating the State and National Union victories, and to ratify the Union nominations for charter officers, viz: NATHAN C. ELY, for Alderman, JOHN W. BOCKMOAR and others for Councilmen; Dr. ROGER SHWARZ for School Trustee, and Hon. JOHN WHEELER for School Commissioner. The large hall was filled by a highly respectable and enthusiastic audience.

The President, Mr. Geo. P. BRADFORD, opened the proceedings by congratulating the meeting on the present hopeful state of feeling as to our military position, and the great national triumph in the election of Mr. LINCOLN. He said that second in importance, so far as the city was concerned, was the election of good and efficient men to the charter offices. They hoped their candidates would be elected.

Mr. ALEX. LAMONT then read a list of officers for the meeting.

Mr. JAMES CUSHING, Jr., was the next speaker introduced. He said it is settled that the nation must live, and drew a very graphic picture of the state our city to-day might be in, had the great and patriotic soldier, Gen. WADSWORTH, been Governor of the State of New-York, instead of SEYMOUR. He then, in a few forcible remarks, showed the paramount necessity of the citizens of the ward in electing proper candidates for Charter offices, relating his own experience as School Commissioner. The system was corrupt, and it was their own fault if the present abuses were allowed to continue longer, by electing improper men to offices of trust, whose only concern was their pockets. Mr. CUSHING presented to the meeting for adoption the following resolutions:

Resolved, That our profoundest thanks are due to Almighty God, for the victory with which he has crowned the exertions of the friends of Liberty and Union, in the triumphant election of ABRAHAM LINCOLN and ANDREW JOHNSON to the high offices of President and Vice-President of the United States of America.

Resolved. That we rejoice in the redemption of the Empire State from the misrule of a man elevated by treachery to the place that should have been filled by the patriotic, gallant, lamented WADSWORTH.

Resolved, That it is now the duty of all citizens, without regard to obsolete party issues, to unite in redeeming this metropolis from the rule of the corrupt and wicked men who have so long squandered our money without making adequate provision for the educational, commercial, sanitary or other interests of the people.

Resolved. That we will labor for the election of honest and patriotic men, and no others, to the various offices to be filled by the approaching charter election.

Resolved, That recognizing such qualities, in an eminent degree, in the joint nominees of the Union and Citizens' organizations, we cordially indorse and recommend to the suffrages of our fellow-citizens, Nathan C. Ely for Alderman, John W. Bockhorn for Councilman, Dr. Robert Stewart for School Trustee, and Hon. John Wheeler for School Commissioner; and that we promise to them our warmest support and our untiring exertions for their election.

The above resolutions were adopted by the meeting with great acclamation.

The Chairman then introduced GEORGE NOYES, Esq., who gave a very interesting account of his journey to the army under the command of Gen. SHERIDAN, in connection with the late Thanksgiving dinner, showing the feelings of gratitude our noble soldiers bore to their friends of New-York.

Various other speakers addressed the meeting, all urging their fellow-citizens to do their duty on Tuesday, first by voting for the candidates whose nominations they had ratified. The meeting then adjourned.

MUNICIPAL REFORM.

MASS MEETING OF TAX-PAYERS.

Ratification of the Citizens' Association Nominations.

HONEST, CAPABLE MEN FOR CITY OFFICERS.

The Best Candidates Regardless of Politics.

Speeches by R. B. Roosevelt, Esq., Hon. James R. Whiting, and Charles Tracy, Esq.

There was a respectable gathering at Cooper Institute, last evening,—as well those who pay taxes directly, as the artisans, shopkeepers and laborers who, not owning real estate, are none the less made to feel our heavy burdens, in the shape of increased rents and higher prices,—called by the Citizens' Association, to ratify the nomination of capable, honest, reliable men, chosen without regard to party, for Aldermen, Councilmen and School Officers. On either side of the platform was a banner, bearing the following inscription:

"The Citizens' Association proposes to carry power back to the people and enable them to select their own candidates, whom they know to be honest and capable."

"Work is king. Politicians shall rule us no longer. Help us save our city."

The meeting was organized by the nomination of R. B. ROOSEVELT for chairman, who was unanimously appointed.

SPEECH OF R. B. ROOSEVELT, ESQ.

Mr. ROOSEVELT said:

In thanking you for the honor you have done me, permit me to say, that the time has arrived in the history of our city, when the good, honest and true men must take charge of public affairs, or the most deplorable consequences, culminating in universal ruin, are inevitable. The corruption of party politics have gone on augmenting from year to year, till the City Government is only looked upon as a means of replenishing the treasury of party organizations, and greasing the wheels of the great machine. In fact, there is the same difference in the honesty of their parties as in the spelling of Tweed and T. Weed, [laughter,] one has a little more capital than the other. [Cheers.] The City Inspector has recognized this fact, and in order to propitiate the Democratic Scylla of the City Hall on the one hand, and the Republican Charybdis of Albany on the other, has parceled out his patronage equally between the two opposing elements. They may fight amongst themselves, but they will always combine to rob the public. As proof of this, refer to the candidates before the people at the coming elections. Tammany selects corrupt and submissive tools, and the other parties make a further selection among these, and indorse the most of them. A complete and extensive scheme was elaborated at a meeting of leaders presided over by the famous T. W., and in which the mythical Peter Griese took an important part, and in which all interests, except those of the city, were represented. The price of gas is to be raised from $2 75 a thousand to $6, the shopkeepers are expected to vote for this; the charge for street-ramps from $15 to $50; the railroad fares are to be increased from five cents to ten—the laboring classes that live up town are expected to vote for this. Railroads are to be run through Broadway, Fifth-avenue, and such other streets as the private necessities of public speculations may require. The terms of those incorruptible officers, the Comptroller and Corporation Counsel, are to be extended five years—a proposition that under any circumstances would receive two votes. [Cheers and laughter.] And finally, the Common Council is to be abolished, and the city governed by a commission composed exclusively of the Ring, and you are all invited to vote for this. [Applause.] To show how peculiarly appropriate is the extension of the terms of the Comptroller and Corporation Counsel, I will merely mention that judgments for nearly a million dollars have been lately rendered against the city, mostly on the signature of the Comptroller, by consent of the Corporation Counsel, many of them on claims considered by able members of the bar entirely illegal. The money, however, went to the benefit of strict party men, and perpetuated the influence of departments. We have tinkered at the charter in the vain hope that we could legislate honesty into the dishonest, till it is a patchwork deformity, a very sieve of public interests, with responsibility nowhere or opportunities everywhere. We give an office power because the incumbent happens to be honest, and we try to take it away when a corrupt man is substituted. No official can prevent peculation, but every official can peculate. We give our property into the care of thieves, and pass laws that they shall not steal; we select villains as the guardians of our dearest rights and read them homilies on virtue. Unless we take care they will prove to be our executors, and all that will be left of us will be a broken table of the Ten Commandments. [Applause.] There is but one cure. It cannot be found in legislation; it will not come of itself. [Cheers.] The people must take the matter up or ruin to our city, our principles, and our Government is before us. Already seven thousand lives are sacrificed yearly by the want of sanitary regulations, and incalculable sickness and suffering are entailed upon all classes. Already taxes devour one-half the income of real estate, and rents are driven up to fabulous prices. Now is the opportunity for reform. The parties are divided. We have Tammany, Mozart No. 1, Mozart No. 2, McKeon, the German, and two Republican organizations, and they are all busy from the leaders down to the rank and file selling out their own candidates. What a glorious opportunity for the good men to come to their own. Wrangling and quarreling are the order of the political day. WEED is abusing OPDYKE, BRENNAN has attempted to oust BOOLS, and they have yet kissed and quite made up. The anti-emigration Mayor (himself the son of an emigrant,) is daily at loggerheads with the Common Council who are mostly "Simon Pure" emigrants; and OWEN W. BRENNAN is squabbling with JAMES B. TAYLOR for his share of profits. Altogether there is a healthy development of mutual animosity, and at this opportune moment the Citizen's Association offers you good men. It places before you candidates that you can not only vote for, but associate with; men of character, intelligence, of honorable public career or private record. I implore you and all other voters of our city to give to the candidates of the Citizens' Association your suffrages. [Loud applause.]

ADDRESS OF HON. JAMES R. WHITING.

The Chairman introduced Hon. JAMES R. WHITING, who was received with applause. He said we had just got through an august campaign at the ballot-box, to save the nation. Our business to-night was of a purely practical character—to secure the election of honest and capable men to administer the affairs of the City Government. To such an extent has not only robbery, but tyranny, been carried by the 'Ring,' that the present chief officer of the city had to be escorted to and from his office by a policeman, fearful of his life; and by threats, bodily made, the public money was extracted from him—an acknowledgment of his weakness and the relinquishment of the public treasury to their rapacity. Estimating the population of this city at one million, there is a tax of fifteen dollars upon every man, woman and child, and upon every voter $200. For every day of ten hours we are taxed $50,000. In 1830, with a population of 250,000, our city expenses were a trifle over $1,000,000. At the present rate of increase it will not be many years before there will be a confiscation of the income from the whole real estate of the city. At this moment there are over 2,000 men receiving pay from the treasury of the city who never perform one hour's work. Mr. WHITING quoted the language of a recent charge by Judge BARNARD, in regard to the Ring, giving it, as he said, a legal definition. Politically, we were its slaves, and there was no safety for us but in its destruction. But not only our money but (what is of more consequence) the health and lives of citizens were endangered. Instead of filling the Sanitary Department (which cost $140,000) with capable men, they put in as "Health Wardens" creatures picked up from garrets and the lowest haunts of the city—simply political paupers and dependents upon the Ring—totally ignorant and careless of their duties. The city would be equally secure from the ravages of pestilence and epidemic if every man were out of the City Inspector's Department and the doors of that political plague-spot safely locked up. In the City of London, with a population of about three millions, the yearly average mortality to the million is about 21,000. In New-York City, with a population of one million, the mortality for the last year is about 26,000, and this in the face of the fact that the naturaal sanitary advantages of this city over those of London are estimated at 4 per cent. We are sacrificing at least 6,000 lives yearly that might and should have been saved. As an instance of the official "stealings," Judge WHITING named the Court House in the Park. Its original cost was not to exceed $100,000. Already in the name of that building, but partially erected, upward of a million has been filched from the treasury, and going on at this rate, it would cost five millions, if indeed any one present should live to see it completed. Also the Harlem Bridge swindle. Mr. WHITING gave a graphic sketch of the style of living of some of the officials—their splendid equipages, noble mansions, and wives bedizzened with jewels; and closed his remarks by calling upon the taxpayers and honest voters of the city to correct these most flagrant and wicked abuses, by uniting upon honest, capable men.

Mr. CHARLES TRACEY offered the following preamble and resolutions, prefacing them with some appropriate and forcible remarks:

Whereas, the unceasing corruptions of political parties, by degrading the character of their candidates, has introduced into many of the departments of the Municipal Government the most criminal negligence, inefficiency or downright mal-administration: which threaten, by driving away capital, oppressing labor, and impeding commerce, to bring serious injury, if not absolute destruction, upon our city; and by spreading from it throughout the country, to degrade republican institutions and endanger our form of government, we feel that the time has arrived when the good members of society must combine for their own protection, and take the management of public affairs into their own hands. It is therefore

Resolved, That in view of the wasteful, extravagant and corrupt expenditures of the City Government, it has become the duty of all men to lay aside party politics in our Charter elections and to vote for the best men for municipal office. That as these expenditures fall ultimately most heavily upon the honest and respectable laboring men, in raising rents and the prices of the necessaries of life, it is their direct interest to have them reduced, and to have good substituted for bad government, and that only men of honesty and capacity are fit exponents of the character and intelligence of the people under free institutions, and are the only persons entitled to represent the people in a Republican form of government.

That we will, therefore, select men solely for these qualities, and will vote for candidates whose past career, whether private or public, has entitled them to the confidence of the community—such men as are offered for the suffrages of the people by the Citizens' Association.

That we believe that these candidates are eminently qualified to take charge of the interests of the city, and that they will earnestly labor for the public good, and we therefore recommend them to our fellow-citizens.

The resolutions were adopted by acclamation, and the meeting adjourned.

Chamber of Commerce.

A regular meeting of the Chamber of Commerce was held yesterday afternoon at 1 o'clock, President A. A. Low in the chair. After the minutes of the last meeting were read and approved, Mr. DE WITT C. BLOODGOOD submitted a preliminary report on the Reciprocity Treaty with Canada, which was read by Mr. STEVENS, the Secretary. The committee stated that they had prepared a voluminous report, but they thought it not advisable to present it to the Chamber until after the President's next message.

The preliminary report was, on motion, accepted, and ordered on file.

The Special Committee, appointed at the meeting of the Chamber of Commerce in October last, to take into consideration the memorial of the Chamber of Commerce of the city of New-Orleans to the President of the United States, in respect to the Trade Regulations of the Government within the limits of States or parts of States declared to be in insurrection, reported unfavorably.

A communication was received and read from REID C. BURLAGE, Consulate-General of the Netherlands, with reference to the establishment of a new beacon on the Island of Texel, and modification of the lights of the Islands of Terschelling and Vieland.

The following letter from Capt. WINSLOW, of the Kearsarge, was then read:

ROXBURY, Nov. 25.

DEAR SIR: I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of a diploma from the Chamber of Commerce of New-York, tendering to me, the officers and crew of the Kearsarge, congratulations and thanks for the destruction of the steamer Alabama by the Kearsarge, under my command.

Be pleased to convey to the Chamber of Commerce my thanks in behalf of the officers and crew of the Kearsarge, for the complimentary manner in which they have referred to our services.

The destruction of the Alabama is an event which I do not affect to say, under the attending circumstances, was of great importance in influencing our foreign relations at the time, aside from the benefit derived from ridding the ocean of the most destructive pest upon our commerce.

Reiterating my thanks to the Chamber of Commerce, I have the honor to be, very respectfully,

Your ooedient servant,

JNO. A. WINSLOW, Captain U. S N.

A. A. LOW, President of the Chamber of Commerce of New-York.

The following resolutions were then introduced by Capt. CHAS. H. MARSHALL:

Whereas, This Chamber must ever feel the deepest interest in everything that is calculated to protect our commerce, and to cripple and destroy those who would assail it, and must ever feel a just pride in those brave and skillful officers of our navy who devise plans and hazard their lives in executing the same; and,

Whereas, Since the last meeting of this Chamber the country has been electrified with the intelligence of the destruction of the rebel ram Albemarle; be it, therefore,

Resolved, That the thanks of the Chamber of Commerce of the City of New-York are hereby heartily tendered to Lieut. WM. B. CUSHING, of the United States Navy, for the great gallantry displayed by him and the brave men who accompanied him, on the occasion of the destruction of the rebel ram Albemarle, in the harbor of Plymouth, N. C., on the night of the 27th of October last: and that we have noticed with pleasure that this act is appreciated by the Naval Department at Washington, which proposes properly to reward the same.

Resolved, That the Chamber also takes much pleasure in associating with this event the name of Chief Engineer WM. W. W. WOOD, of the United States Navy, a native of the South, to whom much credit is due for the invention of the torpedo so skilfully and heroically applied on the above occasion. It is with peculiar pleasure that we recall to mind the fact that this officer, surrounded as he was by such wide-spread disaffection on the part of the Southern born officers of the navy, has never for one moment hesitated as to his duty to the service, his country, and its flag, and for his services and devotion we respectfully commend him to the Government.

After eulogistic remarks by Messrs. PETER COOPER, W. H. WEBB and Capt. EZRA NYE, the resolutions were unanimously adopted.

The following communication was also read:

BAHIA, Oct. 10.

GENTLEMEN: Deploring the sad occurrence which has just taken place in this port, the Federal war-steamer Wachusett [breaking the neutrality of this Empire, and capturing and towing out of the harbor the Confederate steamer Florida, regardless of all international laws and the common laws of people, disregarding the intimation given them by the authorities of the place, who had the assurance from the American Consul that no conflict would take place in their waters, and considering that the said Consul appears to be implicated in the same sad occurrence, having abandoned the Consulate, and leaving the relations between this port and the United States entirely interrupted, to the detriment of the commercial interests of both countries, we, the undersigned, respectfully request the Chamber of Commerce of New-York to suspend law suit that might tend to reward the capturers, until a committee be appointed by the same Chamber to investigate the subject closely, and inform them of the precise means by which the seizure was accomplished, and the detriment thereby accruing to the commerce of New-York.

To the President and Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce of New-York: (Signed,)

I, H. B. BAINES, Her Britannic Majesty's Acting Consul for this city and Province, do hereby certify that the signatures to the foregoing address to the Chamber of Commerce of New-York is of the true and proper handwriting of the merchants established in this city.

And as such whereof being required, I have granted this under my hand and seal of office, at Bahia, this 19th day of October, 1864.

(Seal.) H. B. BAINES, Acting Consul.

The President took occasion to say in reference to the above that there was a mistaken impression that the Chamber of Commerce had offered a reward for the destruction of the Florida. They had done nothing of the kind.

After transacting some business of minor importance, the Chamber adjourned.

Perry's

MOTH AND FRECKLE LOTION.

Chloasma, or Moth Patches, Lentigo or Freckles, blemishes in the face called moth, are very annoying, particularly to ladies of light complexion, as the discolored spots on the face show more strongly on blondes than brunettes; but they contribute greatly in marring the beauty on either; and anything that will effectually remove them without injuring the skin in texture or color, would be considered a great achievement in medical science. Dr. B. C. PERRY, who has made diseases of the skin a specialty, has discovered an infallible remedy for the removal of moth, freckles and other discolorations from the face without injuring the skin in texture or color. Prepared only by Dr. B. C. PERRY, Dermatologist, No. 49 Bond-st., New-York. For sale by all druggists. Call for Perry's Moth and Freckle Lotion.

Is it possible that any Soldier can be so foolish as to leave the city without a supply of HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT AND PILLS? Whoever does so will deeply regret it. These medicines are the only certain cures for Bowel Complaints, Fevers, Sores and Scurvy. If the reader of this "notice" cannot get a box of Pills or Ointment from the drug-store in his place, let him write to me, No. 80 Maiden-lane, inclosing the amount, and I will mail a box free of expense. Many dealers will not keep my medicines on hand because they cannot make as much profit as on other persons' make. 35 cents, 88 cents, and $1 40 per box or pot.

Piano-Fortes.—WM. B. BRADBURY'S New Scale Pianos have attained a popularity as a superior first-class piano, unprecedented in the history of the trade. After the most thorough and severe trials by Gottschalk, Mason, Mills, Sanderson, Morgan, Heller, Timm, Patterson, and many others of the most competent judges, they are pronounced "superior in power, purity, richness, equality of tone, and thoroughness of workmanship." See their letter in my last circular. Warerooms No. 427 Broome-st., one block east of Broadway. WM. B. BRADBURY.

President Petroleum Company, President, Venango County, Penn.—It will be seen that the Officers and Directors of this organization are of excellent commercial standing and influence. UNION NOMINATION.

SEVENTH ALDERMANIC DISTRICT.

For Alderman,

WILLIAM H. GEDNEY.

FIFTH ALDERMANIC DISTRICT.

At an adjourned meeting of the Union Convention of the Fifth Aldermanic District, held at No. 135 Spring-st., on Thursday Evening, Dec. 1, was unanimously nominated as the Union candidate for Alderman. ROBERT R. CARPENTER, Chairman.

Mr. ALEXANDER H. KEECH

JOHN RILEY, Secretary.

RATIFICATION MEETING.

NINTH ALDERMANIC DISTRICT, SIXTEENTH WARD.

The citizens of this ward are invited to assemble at the old headquarters, No. 245 8th-av., on SATURDAY EVENING, the 3d inst., at 7½ o'clock, to ratify the nomination of ISAAC DAYTON for Alderman, GEORGE McLEAN and the other candidates on the Regular Union Ticket for Councilmen, JAMES W. FARR for School Commissioner, and JOHN DE LA MATER for School Trustee.

Charles S. Spencer, Esq., Isaac Dayton, Esq., David R. Jaques, Esq., and James W. Farr, Esq., will address the meeting.

ALEXANDER McLEOD, Chairman.
BENJAMIN C. WANDALL, Secretary.

FIFTEENTH ALDERMANIC DISTRICT.

TWENTY-FIRST WARD CITIZENS' ASSOCIATION.

For Alderman—MARSHALL VOUGHT.

Also adopted by the Regular Tammany, the McKeon, the Constitutional Union, the German Democratic and the Republican Union organizations.

No. 15 WEST 29TH-ST., Dec. 1, 1864.

To Geo. H. Van Cleft, Esq., and others, Committee of 21st Ward Citizens' Association:

GENTS: Being entirely satisfied that my longer continuance in the field as a candidate for Alderman of the 15th Ward, would serve merely to divide the vote of the citizens of the District, and result in the election of a person entirely unfit for the office, I hereby very cheerfully withdraw from the canvass, and respectfully request my friends to support Mr. MARSHALL VOUGHT, the joint nominee of the various order-loving political associations of the Ward.

Very respectfully, yours,
SMITH CLIFT.

MEDICAL.

A BLESSING TO EVERY WOMAN.
The only specific known to be always safe, healthy and certain for removing obstructions or irregularities of nature, from whatever cause, and bring on the monthly sickness, is the wonderful and infallible
PORTUGUESE FEMALE MONTHLY PILLS.
Price $3 and $5. Sold by Dr. A. M. MAURICEAU, sole agent for the United States, office No. 129 Liberty-st., or sent by return mail in letter envelopes.

PRIVATE DISEASES CURED IN THE shortest possible time, by DR. WARD & CO., No. 61 Franklin-st., near Broadway, without the use of Mercury, loss of time or change of diet. Dr. WARD, from the hospitals of London, Paris and Edinburgh, is the discoverer of the only certain and reliable remedies for diseases of a private character. In 28 years practice he has cured more cases of Secret Diseases and Wrong Treatment than all others combined. I can and will cure you in less time and at less expense than any other can or will, and those who have been robbed of their money and health, call; it will take but little money and time to restore you. If you have been unfortunate, call at once. By his special experience in this much neglected branch of medical science, he is enabled to guarantee a cure in the most complicated cases. Recent cases of Gonorrhœa or Syphilis cured in a few days, without change of diet or hindrance from business. Secondary Syphilis—the last vestige eradicated without the use of Mercury. Involuntary emissions stopped in a short time. Sufferers from Impotency, or loss of sexual power, restored to full vigor in a few weeks, permanently and speedily cured by a new treatment. Persons at a distance failing to receive prompt treatment elsewhere, may get a permanent cure effected by writing a full diagnosis of their case, addressed to Dr. WARD, No. 61 Franklin-st. Call, send, or write.

CAUTION TO MARRIED AND SINGLE LADIES.—DR. A. M. MAURICEAU, Professor of Diseases of Women, deems it his duty to caution ladies, that his scientific mode of treatment in all cases of irregularity or suppression, is the only one at once healthy and certain in all cases, however complicated. He is consulted with the strictest confidence.
DR. A. M. MAURICEAU is the author of "THE MARRIED WOMAN'S PRIVATE MEDICAL COMPANION," strictly intended for those whose health and circumstances forbid a too rapid increase of family; a perusal of which will convince any lady of his thorough knowledge of her complaints. Every lady who has it is secure from danger and imposition. Price $1. Sold at No. 1 Vesey-st., No. 18 Ann-st.; also, at his office, No. 129 Liberty-st., or sent by mail, by addressing Box No. 1,224 New-York City.

THE GREAT ENGLISH REMEDY FOR GOUT AND RHEUMATISM.
All sufferers from the above complaints, either of recent or long standing, are advised to use Blair's Gout and Rheumatic Pills. They can be relied upon as the most safe and effectual remedy ever offered to the public, and have been universally used in Europe for many years with the greatest success.
Prepared by PROUT & HARSANT, No. 229 Strand, London, England, and sold by their agents, F. C. WELLS & CO., 115 Franklin-st., and by most druggists. Price $1 50 per box.
Her Majesty's Commissioners have authorized the name and address of "Thomas Prout, No. 229 Strand, London," to be impressed upon the Government stamp affixed to each box of the genuine medicine.

MANHOOD AND THE VIGOR OF YOUTH regained in three days by Dr. POWERS' ESSENCE OF LIFE. This wonderful agent restores manhood to the most shattered constitution, radically curing Seminal Weakness, Sexual Debility, and Impediments to marriage generally; Nervousness, Mental and Physical Incapacity, resulting from self-abuse, &c. The time required to cure the most inveterate cases is one week. Failure is impossible. This life-restoring remedy should be taken by all about to marry, as its effects are permanent. Young man, are you subject to that soul and body destroying disease, secret habits? Dr. POWERS' invigorating Essence is a never-failing cure. Sold by WALTER POWERS, M. D., No. 61 Franklin-st., between Broadway and Elm-st., New-York.

CAUTION.—CHLORODYNE—IN CHANCERY.—It was clearly proved before Vice-Chancellor Sir W. P. Wood, by affidavits from eminent hospital physicians in London, that Dr. J. Collis Browne was the discoverer of Chlorodyne; that they prescribe it largely, and mean no other than Dr. Browne's.—See Times, Jan. 12, 1864. The public, therefore, are cautioned against using any other than Dr. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE, which is affirmed by medical testimonials to be the most efficacious medicine ever discovered for Consumption, Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis, Spasms, Rheumatism, &c. None can be genuine without the name of J. T. DAVENPORT, No. 33 Great Russell-st., London, sole manufacturer. Observe particularly, none genuine without the words "Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne" on the Stamp. Agent, New-York, Mr. JAMES ASPINWALL, William-st.

DR. CHEESEMAN'S FEMALE PILLS have been a Standard Remedy for over thirty years, and are the most effectual one ever known for all complaints peculiar to females. To all classes they are invaluable, inducing with certainty periodical regularity. They are known to thousands, who have used them at different periods, throughout the country, having the sanction of some of the most eminent physicians in America.
Explicit directions, stating when they should not be used, with each box—the price $1 per box, or six boxes for $5, containing from fifty to sixty pills.
Sent by mail promptly, secure from observation, by remitting to the Proprietors. SOLD BY DRUGGISTS GENERALLY
HUTCHINGS & HILLYER, Proprietors,
81 Cedar-st., New-York.

MEDICAL AND SURGICAL CONSULTATIONS.—Dr. R. COBBETT can be consulted with the most honorable confidence on private diseases at his conveniently-arranged suite of offices, No. 20 Centre-st., between Chambers and Reade sts., having a private entrance at No. 6 City Hall-place. From Dr. C. being one of the oldest, and probably the only qualified physician and surgeon in this City who makes diseases of the genitourinary organs a specialty, he is thus enabled to guarantee speedy and permanent cures, or make no charge. Strictures of the urethra, seminal weakness nervous and general debility treated on the most scientific principles. N. B.—See Dr. C.'s diplomas, in his office, as member of the New-York University Medical College, and College of Surgeons, London. Office hours, 9 A. M. to 8½ P. M.

DR. COOPER, NO. 14 DUANE-ST., MAY BE confidently consulted on all diseases of a private nature. A practice of 30 years, devoted to the treatment and cure of Syphilitic, Mercurial and diseases of a delicate nature, enables Dr. C. to make speedy and permanent cures, no matter of how long standing the case may be. Strictures of the urethra and seminal weakness, brought on by a secret habit, effectually cured. The victims of misplaced confidence, who have been misled by quack advertisements, can call on Dr. C. with the certainty of being radically cured or no charge made.

ADVICE TO MARRIED LADIES, who require a safe and certain remedy for removing obstructions, from whatever cause. Can rely upon the celebrated INFALLIBLE FRENCH FEMALE MONTHLY PILLS. No. 1, price $1 a box, to restore the monthly sickness in forty-eight hours, if of short standing; but obstinate cases, of long standing, may require No. 2, which are four degrees stronger than No. 1, and can never fail, are safe and healthy, price $5 a box. Sold at No. 127½ Liberty-st., and 162 Chambers-st., or sent by mail, with full instructions; address Box 2,359 N. Y. P. O.

DR. POWERS' PERIODICAL DROPS are designed for both married and single ladies, and are the very best thing known for the purpose, as they will bring on the monthly sickness in case of obstruction from any cause, and after all other remedies of the kind have been tried in vain. Expressly for obstinate cases. Warranted as represented in every respect, or the price will be refunded. ☞ Beware of imitations! Purchase directly of Dr. POWERS, 61 Franklin-st. N. Y.

WIDE WORLD FAMED TRIESEMAR.—Protected by Patent Seals and European Diplomas. Triesemar No. 1 invigorates shattered constitutions. Intemperance, inordinate indulgencies of delusive habits. Dr. H. A. RAMBOW, No. 154 Bleecker-st., between Macdougal-st. and Cottage Buildings, N. Y.

EVENINGS WITH SHAKESPEARE AT THE WINTER GARDEN,
EDWIN BOOTH AS HAMLET.
Mr. Stuart begs to announce that on this evening, and every evening until further notice, Mr. Edwin Booth will appear in his great role of Hamlet, a character in which he is universally acknowledged, in the language of the Daily Times, "to have no living equal." This play is the first of a series of representations to be produced under Mr. Booth's immediate direction, in which the effort, that has already found such cheering sympathy, will be continued to place each play upon the stage in a style combining splendor of production with strict historical correctness. Hamlet has been in active preparation for upward of three months, under the stage management of Mr. J. G. Hamly, and no expense or labor has been spared in the endeavor, by a more strictly pictorial arrangement of the ordinary stage resources, and by the fidelity, appropriateness and superior execution of the several means of scenic illusion to carry out the spirit of the play in the most minute details, and thus advance the drama as a branch of national literature and art.
The scenery, music, costumes, properties and machinery are entirely new, and to give a perfect completeness to the cast, engagements have been made with MRS. J. W. WALLACK, Jr., one of the most gifted actresses who ever graced the stage; MR. EDWIN VARREY, C. KEMBLE MASON, the eminent comedian, THOMAS PLACIDE, who appear nightly in conjunction with Mrs. F. S. Chanfrau, Chester, Messrs. G. H. Andrews, C. Walcot, J. G. Hanley, E. Eberle, C. W. Chester, O. S Fawcett, Duell, Burroughs, Burgess, &c. Doors open at 6¾. Commence at 7½, precisely.

and devastate the country, if not molested, and when pressed to the wall will make for the coast.

From the Augusta Chronicle, Nov. 25.

Several trains arrived on the South Carolina Railroad during the night loaded with troops.

The Augusta Volunteer Artillery Company B, has gone into Winter quarters near this city.

We understand, from reliable authority, that large reinforcements are expected in this city this evening from Lord Island.

MILITARY MOVEMENTS.

From the Augusta Chronicle & Sentinel, Nov. 22.

We are informed Gen. BEAUREGARD will be in Augusta on Wednesday.

A large body of troops is on the way from the west. Some of them, we are told, will arrive here in a few days.

The Governor of South Carolina has ordered all the regulars in that State to rendezvous at Hamburgh, in order to repel any attack that may be made on that side of the river, or to assist the forces on this side in case of necessity. A large force had arrived last night, and some eight or ten thousand more it is expected will be on the spot soon.

Orders were received here last night to prepare rations for some twenty thousand regular troops, which are on their way to this point.

HOW THE GEORGIANS ARE FLYING TO THE RESCUE.

GOV. BROWN CUT OFF AND DISABLED.

AUGUSTA, Ga., Monday, Nov. 21.

I. His Excellency Gov. JOSEPH E. BROWN, Governor and Commander-in-Chief of the Militia of the State, being cut off from communication with that portion of the State East of the Oconee River, by the interposition of a hostile army, it becomes my duty, as President of the Senate and ex-officio Governor during the disability of the Governor, to assume command of all that part of the State thus left without the jurisdiction of the Governor; and as the prompt and faithful execution of the recent act of the Legislature providing for a levy en masse of the arms bearing people of the State is of vital importance; I do, therefore, issue this order revoking so much of the Governor's proclamation as provide for the reporting of all the troops raised under it to Maj.-Gen. G. W. SMITH, and do order that the men in all the counties east of the Oconee River, except such as may be already reported to Maj.-Gen. WAYNE,) report immediately to me at this place, when arms and equipments will be issued by the proper officers.

II. The Aid-de-Camp in the districts east of the Oconee River will proceed at once to send on to this place all men liable to service under the aforesaid act.

III. A Medical Board will be established at this place for the examination of all men, when fitness for service may be considered by the Aid-de-Camp as doubtful.

IV. The emergency is such that a delay even of a single day will in no case be permitted—all must be sent forward at once. A. E. WRIGHT,

President of the Senate and ex-officio Governor during the disability of Gov. BROWN.

GEN. WRIGHT'S PROCLAMATION.

From the Savannah Republican, Nov. 24.

We direct special attention to the proclamation of Gen. A. R. WRIGHT, who, as President of the Georgia Senate, is ex-officio Governor during the disability of the regular Executive. We are pleased to have so respectable a Governor at last, and hope prompt attention will be given to his call in this important crisis.

HAMPTONS CAVALRY.

HEADQUARTERS CAVALRY, Nov. 24, 1864.

To Commanding Officer, Augusta:

Please insert this dispatch in all newspapers in Augusta. All men of my command now in Georgia will rendezvous forthwith at Augusta, and those in South Carolina at Columbia, and wait orders.

WADE HAMPTON, Major-General.

GEORGIANS TO THE RESCUE!

From the Savannah News, Nov. 24.

I cordially solicit men of all ages, exempt from military law, to join me at once and form a company, to report to Maj.-Gen. G. W. SMITH for service in the field for forty days, in accordance with the proclamation of the Governor.

As it is apparent the emergency is upon us, better do die gallantly in the field, defending all that is dear to us as freemen, than to submit to the despot SHERMAN'S rule. Let the fate of Atlanta inspire every Southerner to defend his home. Tarry not till the gate is closed on us, and wait not to be brought out by officials, but enroll your names promptly at my headquarters at Navy Paymaster's office, over W. BATTERSBY & Co., on Bay-street. I leave on Thursday evening, 4 o'clock, for the front, with or without company. J. C. MOSES.

SAVANNAH, Nov. 22, 1864.

PERSONAL.

From the Augusta Chronicle, Nov. 22.

Gen. JOHNSTON is at present in our city. Gen. TAYLOR is at Macon; he is expected in this city. Gov. BROWN is in Macon.

From the Augusta Constitutionalist, Nov 23.

Gen. JOSEPH E. JOHNSTON is now in our city. Gen. BEAUREGARD is expected to-morrow.

From the Savannah News, Nov. 26.

Gen. JOSEPH E. JOHNSTON has arrived in Columbia, from Augusta. He intends, for the present, to make Columbia his home.

THE WEATHER.

From the Augusta Chronicle, Nov. 22.

The weather yesterday was exceedingly cold, with a slight sprinkle of snow in the morning; the thermometer was below 30 degrees, and the ground was frozen all day. Overcoats were drawn closely and felt comfortably.

The Charleston Courier of Nov. 23 announces a black frost on Tuesday, and says the physicians are advising all absent citizens that they can now return with perfect safety.

SPIRIT OF THE PRESS.

THE INVASION.

From the Augusta Chronicle, Nov. 25.

The army of invasion drags its slow length along. This is not a country through which such an army, with its artillery and wagon-trains, can march very rapidly, and if proper measures be taken to obstruct its progress, it can be made to march still more slowly. Every road by which it can advance, every route it is likely to take, should be obstructed by felling trees, and every other device possible.

Speculation is rife as to the point on the seaboard at which SHERMAN is aiming. The Northern press indicates Savannah. But for that very reason, we should doubt this to be the real destination. There are reasons for supposing that Beaufort is the point. It is said that a large fleet of transports is now hovering off that port, indicating preparations to coöperate with SHERMAN in the event of his reaching it. Brunswick is, also, supposed by many to be SHERMAN'S point of destination.

We think that his present movements show that one of the three places named is the point aimed at. The enemy's forces, from all the information we obtain, have been bearing down on the Central Road, which they have succeeded in cutting. They would do this to protect their rear, in pursuing either of the routes suggested. The fact that they are pressing in that direction, indicates the design to strike for either Beaufort, Savannah or Brunswick.

Although the Northern press has hinted that SHERMAN might attempt to march to Charleston by way of Augusta, recent developments, we think, show very clearly that such is not his design. If this were his route, he would not be diverging from it so widely. He would have advanced directly upon Augusta. He would not have spent all this time moving with his whole force on the Central road, and so far out of his direct road.

SHERMAN'S programme when he started was to push for some point on the seaboard before a sufficient force could be concentrated to oppose him. The utmost speed, therefore, was essential to success; and he would avoid all unnecessary delay. He would not likely turn aside or loiter by the way to accomplish any minor or subordinate objects. Unless Augusta were in his route, he would hardly waste the time necessary to capture it, for any advantages it would likely afford him. If it be settled, therefore, that Charleston is not the point which he is aiming to reach, we do not think it probable that Augusta will at this time receive a visit from SHERMAN.

SIGNS OF THE TIMES.

From the Savannah Republican, Nov. 24.

Silence, says the Charleston Mercury, of yesterday, "has reigned in our city for several days. But the enemy have now in position on Morris Island some forty pieces of heavy ordnance, bearing on Sullivan's Island and Fort Sumter. They are busy in mortar mounting and preparations, and have brigade drills. They have buoyed out Bull's Bay, not far to the northward. They have a fleet of some dozen monitors at Port Royal, and somewhere on the Atlantic coast a dozen and a half more, including ships like the Ironsides and Dictator. These preparations indicate an attack on Charleston by the water approach. The signs are confirmed by the statements of Northern papers that Charleston is the point desired and aimed at. And the rapid advance of SHERMAN'S army upon Augusta, which is only some six days' march from here, tallies with all the rest, and warns us that no time is to be lost in preparing, to the best of our ability, to meet the issue which appears to be upon us. Are we ready for an attack and for a siege? The people of Charleston have seen danger more than once before, and are not subject to panics. Let the situation be calmly scrutinized now, with a view to the final result."

To the above magnificent preparations, set forth by the Mercury, we may add that large fleets are now assembled at Port Royal, Tybee, and Doboy, no doubt in preparation for SHERMAN'S arrival. Thus are they prepared to meet him at all points, showing perfect confidence in the success of his expedition.

And, with the Mercury, we would call upon our people to avoid everything like undue excitement, and with calm deliberation bring their minds to the great work before them. It is a time for manhood, not indecision and cowardly fear. We may have valuable use for all of good judgment and courage that we possess; let them not be neutralized by any thought or act unbecoming freemen engaged in a great struggle for liberty.

As regards SHERMAN'S expedition through Georgia to the coast, which the Yankees pronounce a grand military achievement, even after their great leader has told them he has no enemy to oppose him, we have a word or two to say. Even should he succeed in penetrating to the coast, what will he have achieved? Neither Savannah nor Charleston is of any great strategic importance to the Federals, and should they get there, our people will only close up the gaps, repair the damage in his rear, and stand ready to keep him there. He would have a ready water communication for his supplies, but wherein would his advantage differ from those of the Federal commanders who have footholds on the coast of Virginia and North Carolina? The great heart of the country would still be intact, and the "rebellion," instead of being "crushed out," would only be cemented and ready for more decisive blows. Twenty such "grand expeditions" would not quench the flames of Southern liberty, nor unnerve the sturdy arms that are bared in its defence. Our great trouble has been in this war, a multiplicity of points to be defended. It has scattered our forces and consequently weakened them. Concentrated in the interior, they would be stronger than ever before, and bid defiance to all the arts of their foes.

MISCELLANEOUS.

From the Augusta Chronicle, Nov. 26.

Hon. W. R. W. COBB, the member of Congress who was expelled a few days ago, was killed recently in North Alabama, by the accidental discharge of one of his own pistols. He has for some time past been consorting with the Yankees, and was not long since in Nashville. His Yankee friends had presented him a pair of pistols, which he wore upon his person. One of them dropped to the ground and went off, the ball penetrating his bowels and coming out of his back, causing death.

DECIDEDLY SCARED.

From the Augusta Constitutionalist, Nov. 22.

The actions of some of the members of our State Legislature on leaving Milledgeville showed that they were only not scared—but "scared clean, through" and a little more so. We are informed that several paid as high as a thousand dollars a piece for a conveyance to carry them eight miles. Either "Confederates" must be plenty in their neighborhood, or they must value themselves at a pretty high rate.

LOOK OUT FOR THEM.

From the Augusta Chronicle, Nov. 25.

We understand that one of the Yankee deserters who took the oath of allegiance to the Confederate Government was captured Wednesday, while en route to join SHERMAN'S army. He gave his name as JOHN SMITH, and says he had eleven associates who escaped. He was dressed in Confederate uniform. People residing in Columbia, Warren, Hancock and adjacent counties would do their country a service by keeping a sharp lookout for, and arresting all parties going toward the enemy's lines.

FLORIDA.

From the Gainesville (Fla.) Cotton States.

Either the Yankees or tories placed a number of torpedoes on the Florida Railroad on Sunday. They were discovered in time to prevent the injury of the train. It was certainly a cold-blooded effort to murder innocent people. Such villains, if detected, should be punished with death.

The enemy have evacuated Magnolia on the St. John's River. This is owing, to a very great extent, to the vigilance of Capt. DICKINSON, in just such receptions as he is capable of giving the mongrels.

What the Richmond Papers Say.

Special Dispatches to the New-York Times.

WASHINGTON, Thursday, Dec. 1.

Richmond papers of Tuesday, Nov. 20, received here to-day by the Philadelphia Inquirer's correspondent bring latest intelligence from Georgia. The theatre of war which now absorbs the attention of the whole country They break in some measure through their imposed reticence, on the pretence that SHERMAN has been baffled in his attempt to penetrate Georgia. The only instance, however, in which they actually localize his army, is in the statement that he is still on the west bank of the Oconee.

SHERMAN BAFFLED.

From the Richmond Enquirer, Nov. 29.

The fact that SHERMAN has been baffled thus far in his attempt to penetrate Georgia, has been well known in this city for several days, and further reticence on that score is unnecessary. He is floundering about now between the rapidly concentrating manœuvres of the State troops and such portions of the regular army as were not otherwise more advantageously employed, it having been deemed imprudent and, perhaps, unnecessary, to draw off troops from any of our frontier armies. Intelligence from Augusta on the 26th inst., states that the Macon train arrived on the previous night at the usual time, and that the rumor afloat, that the Central Road had been cut, was incorrect. Gen. HOOD, according to our last accounts, was already moving up into East Tennessee, and rumor says he has encountered and defeated the opposing army.

From the Richmond Examiner, Nov. 29.

The tenor of the news from Georgia, so far as it has reached us, is cheering. The Examiner closes a leader on the situation in Georgia with the following suggestion: "Why SHERMAN made his march southward an object to be gained by its reaching the seaboard. SHERMAN'S army was insufficient to garrison and occupy a wide extent of country. But it might be used against Charleston and Savannah, or at least it might be employed after junction with GRANT against Richmond. Now the nearest road to Savannah, or Charleston, or Richmond, is precisely the road he has taken. By a march to Beufort he reaches the fleet, which can land him without obstacle or danger on the banks of the James. In any event work for his army could on! be found by directing his steps to the sea. His blows are not aimed at inland villages, nor is the object of his march the separation of the Confederacy and those railroads which we can unite more rapidly than he can cut them."

The Incendiary Plot.

The investigation of the plot to burn the city is proceeding with the greatest vigor and secrecy.

Gen. DIX is closeted daily with the detectives and others who are engaged in this business.

The examination of prisoners has been going on before a military commission for the past two days, and those most conversant with the cases express great confidence that some of the malefactors will be detected and punished under Gen. DIX's order.

The city at this moment is under the strictest surveillance. Lists of arrivals from the Southare sent daily from the hotels to headquarters, and all suspected persons who fail to report themselves will be summarily punished.

The leading hotel keepers are doing all in their power to aid the authorities, and are in constant communication with them.

It is indicative of the thoroughness and skill with which measures have been taken, that while the closest watch is kept throughout the city, the agents of the Government and their mode of operation are wholly unknown to the public at large.

The condition of things naturally excites much alarm among the Southerners in this city. Large numbers of them register themselves daily, and many have come forward to give what aid they can in detecting the plot. The number of these refugees has been much exaggerated. Those whose opportunities give them the best means of judging, estimate them at from ten to fifteen thousand only. Of these, a large proportion are women and loyal Southerners who have abandoned their property and fled to escape the tyranny of JEFF DAVIS.

All who register themselves are obliged to take the oath of allegiance. The only exception to this rule are those who, for reasons of public policy, are excused. Of course a very small fraction of the whole number.

The precautions taken are such that it is probable that the city was never so safe as at this moment.

The vigilance exercised is well illustrated by the discovery of the torpedo on board of one of the Sound freight steamers. It was a little paste-board box, only about four inches long, and was placed in a boat which carries but few passengers, and which afforded the best opportunities for such an enterprise. Notwithstanding these facilities, it was instantly discovered and removed.

For obvious reasons we still refrain from printing the names of the persons arrested.

Such information is precisely that most desired by their confederates still at large.

Curious Rumor About Capt. Semmes.

CAIRO, Thursday, Dec. 1.

Information of a seemingly reliable character is to the effect that Capt. SEMMES, of the pirate Alabama, arrived at Bagdad, Mexico, on the 15th of October, on his way to Richmond via Matamoras.

It is reported that up to Nov. 20, there had been no quorum in the Arkansas Legislature.

Fifty-five Hundred Union Prisoners thus far Received.

THEIR CONDITION, TREATMENT AND SPIRITS.

From Our Special Correspondent.

FLAG-OF-TRUCE STEAMER NEW-YORK, SAVANNAH RIVER, Sunday, Nov. 27, 1864.

The flag-of-truce fleet of steamers, or at least a large part of them, are still at anchor in the Savannah River, above Fort Pulaski, receiving our released men as fast as the rebel authorities choose to deliver them. The aggregate number transferred to Lieut.-Col. MULFORD during the past ten days will not exceed 5,500, but it is believed that the end of this week will witness the completion of the work. The steamships Atlantic, Blackstone, Gen. Sedgwick, Weybosset, Herman Livingston, Karnak and Constitution have thus far been filled and dispatched to Annapolis, Md., and others will follow from day to day, as quickly as the complement can be got on board. Among the poor fellows who are brought to us are many whose condition is too bad to admit them upon the crowded transports with their less suffering comrades; and the most miserable are selected by the medical officers of the expedition for comfortable quarters on the steamship Baltic, which, with wise forethought, was fitted up as a hospital ship, having every appliance and convenience for the alleviation of their distress. The Baltic is capacious enough to carry about 600 of the worst cases, patients so helpless as to be compelled to keep their beds; and I am sorry to say that already she is nearly full of this class, so that in a day or two she will be sent North. Probably there have been twenty deaths among the number thus far placed in our hands. The last two or three lots of men returned from the prison-pens at Millen and Savannah are physically in much better condition than those at first brought down, although their appearance does not present an iota of improvement as regards the squalor and filthiness which I attempted to describe in my last letter.

The scene each day on the reception of the men loses none of its interest to the spectator; but having once described it for a newspaper, it is described always. There is invariably the greatest enthusiasm on the part of the men—exhibited in cheering, and singing, and dancing by those who are strong enough thus to express their thankfulness, and in the more touching, though less demonstrative, manner of the sick and feeble, whose wan faces are lighted with happy smiles, and whose eyes are suffused with grateful tears, as they find themselves again under the old flag on the way to home. As yet no officers have been brought to us; but I understand from Col. MULFORD that some are expected to-morrow.

Having conversed with a very large number of the prisoners respecting their prison life, I find the most perfect unanimity in their statements of the atrocious treatment of the rebel authorities. The refined cruelties and tortures to which they have been subjected could only have been inflicted by men whom slavery has transformed into tyrants and despots, or by savage and barbarian tribes. There is no room for doubt as to the truth of what these men assert, although, for the sake of a common humanity, the listener hopes that they may be exaggerations. No tongue can express a tithe of the hardships which, month after month, have been inflicted, and no pen can describe them. The revolting task I have been fortunately spared, in becoming the temporary custodian of the rebel official reports of the condition of the hospital and prison-pen at Andersonville, transcripts of which I forwarded for publication by the last mail. That black record stands boldly out, convicting the enemy of base inhumanity, and holding the rebel Government up to the indignation of an outraged civilization, more certainly than a thousand statements from the men who have been the helpless victims of its almost incredible cruelty.

A REMARKABLE INCIDENT.

A rather remarkable incident occurred yesterday. Early in the morning a small schooner, painted lead color, with her sails set, was discovered adrift in the river, about a mile in the rear of the flag-of-truce fleet, and two miles above Fort Pulaski. The vessel was boarded from the steamer Gen. Lyon, and found to be abandoned. She proved to be a blockade-runner from Nassau, with a cargo of 560 sacks and 20 tierces of sugar, 3 crates of crockery, and a number of boxes of lemons and oranges. Subsequently it was ascertained that the schooner had passed the mouth of the river, unperceived by the gunboats on blockade and by the lookout at the fort; but on getting up to Col. MULFORD'S fleet, was deserted by her crew, on the supposition that the transports were a fleet of gunboats. Had her Captain not made this mistake, he would have passed on to Savannah unmolested, as it would have been a violation of the flag of truce for Col. MULFORD to have seized the vessel. But finding the schooner in a derelict condition, she was taken possession of in behalf of the United States Government, and towed by the dispatch steamer Eliza Hancox to Port Royal, and delivered to Major-Gen. FOSTER, commanding the department. The vessel is quite new, and her cargo valuable.

REBEL ACCOUNTS.

A CARD OF THANKS TO A UNITED STATES OFFICER.

From the Savannah News, Nov. 26.

We take great pleasure in laying the following before our readers, and take the occasion to add that all our prisoners who have had any business or intercourse with Col. MULFORD, speak of him as an honorable, humane and Christian gentleman:

Editors Morning News:

I desire through your columns to record an act of courtesy and kindness so seldom extended on the part of a Federal officer to a Confederate prisoner. The officer alluded to is Lieut.-Col. JOHN E. MULFORD, U. S. A., the Federal Commissioner of Exchange. When I was sent as a prisoner to Fort Warren, Boston Harbor, my watch, jewelry and money were taken from me; and when sent to City Point, Virginia, for exchange, these articles, by some mistake, were not returned to me. Through the exertions of Col. MULFORD I have succeeded in obtaining them, to whom I feel grateful for his kindness; and I hereby return my sincere thanks to him for his exertions to procure them for me. Very respectfully,

S. A. BROCKINGTON,
Act'g Mast. Mate, P. N. C. S.

Beef Hams continue in demand; 80 bbls. sold at $28 ℔ bbl. Butter is less sought after, closing at 44c.@56c. for poor to choice State, and 34c.@48c. for Western, ℔ lb. Cheese is inactive at 14c.@22½c. for poor to prime ℔ lb. The week's business in Butter and Cheese, Messrs. M. W. STARIN & Co. notice thus:

We have no material change to report in the market for Butter during the past week. The receipts of fine Dairies were larger than usual, that being the result of direct purchases made of the Dairymen for New-York accounts, a large portion of which being for export. The recent advices from England show that their markets, like our own, are beginning to feel the effects of the diminished make of Butter, which is equal on both sides of the Atantic, and the indications are that they will require all that we can spare. The demand for home consumption and coastwise trade continues quite active at full prices. Advices from California are still favorable, and a fair shipping demand prevails. Western Butters are still in very small supply and receipt, and good grades are much sought for—while a good fair demand prevails in this market for fine grades of Butter for the Western cities. The heavy movement in Butter for export has not yet taken place, although engagements to some extent have been made. The market closes with decided firmness, and our quotations are without change:
